THE WAY MEMORIAL STATUE.

Unveiled by the Chief Justice.

The Chief Justice, Sir Samuel James Hoy, unveiled the statue of Chief Justice Sir George Warren on North Terrace yesterday afternoon.

Prior to the ceremony, a memorial service was held in the Adelaide Town Hall, where the Chancellor of the University, Sir Samuel James Hoy, and the Chief Justice, Sir George Warren, laid the foundation stone of a new memorial in the University's honor. The service concluded with a procession to the site of the statue.

At the statue, a bronze tablet was placed, bearing the inscription:

"IN HONOR OF THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR, CHIEF JUSTICE, AND CHANCELLOR OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ADELAIDE, 1874-1892."

The statue was designed by the acclaimed sculptor, Henry Moore, and stands approximately 12 feet tall. It depicts Sir George Warren in his robes, seated on a pedestal, with a book in his hand, symbolizing his dedication to the law.

The ceremony was attended by a large crowd of dignitaries and the public, with speeches and tributes made by various official representatives. The statue was received with great enthusiasm and was greeted with cheers from the crowd.

The Way's July 16, 1924, issue.