USEFUL LIFE ENDED.

Beloved at St. Peter’s College.

After several years of illness, Mr. Thomas Alexander Caterer died on Tuesday morning. He devoted the whole of his life to education and educational purposes, an aim he was stimulated and associated with the staff of St. Peter’s College.

A tribute paid to the late schoolmaster’s memory on Tuesday, by the head master of the college (Rev. J. P. Buckingham), in the College Chapel. The Register, Mr. Buckingham said, "I have known Mr. Caterer for 13 years and he charmed me at once by his courteous, friendly and open manner. After having been head master for more than four years, he was always accessible and approachable, and certainly asked for the best of every faculty and workman. He demanded the best from all, and he himself did his best.

A Long and Honorable Service.

Mr. Walter T. Williams, G. T., the Rev. R. A. Haynes, M.A., of the college, said that although the times were no so much, Mr. Caterer was a man of great worth and respect. He had been a teacher for almost 30 years, and had taught the students of the college in various capacities.

At the University.

The educational period was that at the Adelaide University. Mr. Caterer was a member of the Senate of the University, and held a position of respect. On one occasion, the Senate passed a resolution that the position of the principal of the school should be abolished, and Mr. Caterer was the only man who opposed the resolution.

A Saint Peter’s College.

At one time there was a change of head master at St. Peter’s College, when the position of the principal was offered to Mr. Caterer. He accepted the offer and announced his intention of applying for the position. The reason that he considered his position was the better that he might be of greater benefit to the institution than he was in his former capacity as a teacher. He was elected and was appointed principal.

An Inter-collegiate Cricket.

Fleetwood was a member of the college cricket team. He took the interest in cricket, and was a member of the cricket team at the university.
