IMPROVEMENT IN FIGURES

EDUCATION URGED

It is proposed to modify the existing infantile mortality with a view to bring it down to the great in Scotland. The proposal would be carried into effect as soon as possible.

When the figures for the public health of the year ending June 30th, 1925, were published, it was found that the infantile mortality was very high. This is due to the fact that the parents of the children are often ignorant of the proper care of the young. The proposal is to make it compulsory for all parents to have their children examined by a doctor before they leave the hospital. The doctors will then detect any inherent taint and will take necessary steps to prevent the disease from spreading. The government has also decided to provide medical advice to all parents regarding the care of their children. This will result in a reduction of infantile mortality.
