University Group—One the left is Sir George Brockman, and in the centre Prof. Kene Grant.

KING'S BIRTHDAY LEVEE

OUR GLORIOUS SOUTH COAST.

In and Around Encounter Bay.

By Charles R. Hodge.

Reminiscences and Reflections.

Encounter Bay was visited by Captain Flinders in 1802, as he had hoped to find a north-west passage to the Chinese seas, through the Tasman Sea. However, the endeavor proved unsuccessful, and the bay was named Encounter Bay in his honor. The area has since become an important port and commercial center.

Nature made Encounter Bay singularly beautiful, and one sometimes feels regret that those who favored this spot as the site for the capital city did not carry the day. What a scene of beauty would have resulted! The city would have been more picturesque and interesting.

The Administrator, Mr. Justice Poole, receiving those who attended to do homage to the King. Standing behind him is Major O. V. Hoad, State Commandant.