A BUSINESS MAN'S REVIEW.

Mr. Hill's Address to Chamber of Commerce.

Government Insurance Proposals Criticised.

In a review of conditions in South Australia during the last twelve months, the retiring president of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday condemned equal-Government Insurance Proposals, and suggested the consideration of certain products. Any action in the direction of fixing prices was likely to result in far more harm than good.

He also criticised the Government for having embarked upon a scheme of economic policy, the details of which were not made known to the public. The President, he said, were morally wrong in their action, even supposing they had acted within their judicial rights.

The annual general meeting and quarterly luncheon of the Adelaide Chamber of Commerce were held in the Town Hall yesterday. The President (Mr. W. J. Hill) presided, and with him at the presiding table were Sir David Gordon, Mr. H. H. Prosser, Messrs. James Garri- cotti, C. H. W. Cowan, W. Herbert Robinson, Mr. Wallace M{	extascyan}n (secretary), J. Lavington Bosworth, J. B. Jordan, J. Clouston, J. B. C. Cary, and W. L. Young.

The president, in moving the adoption of the annual report and balance-sheet said the annual report was submitted by the committee and the minutes were submitted by the secretary, and that the State and Commonwealth had received attention, and the council had at all times exercised every effort to secure the continuance of anomalies and safeguard the interests of trade, commerce, and professional men of the State.

The report of the committee was conveyed to the chamber by the President, and that they were fully alive to the importance of encouraging production, and促进 trade.

A PROSPEROUS YEAR.

A review of conditions in South Australia during the last twelve months, showed that there was considerable improvement in the wool market, which was that the prevailing low prices. The report of the committee of inquiry said that the wool market was in a better state than it had been for some time, and that the prices of wool had advanced.

The report of the committee said that the wool market was in a better state than it had been for some time, and that the prices of wool had advanced.

Mr. W. J. Hill

Woof trend was accelerated by the rise in the British market, and, early in the year, the wool market was in a better state than it had been for some time, and that the prices of wool had advanced.

Mr. W. J. Hill

The wool trend was accelerated by the rise in the British market, and early in the year the wool market was in a better state than it had been for some time, and that the prices of wool had advanced.

Mr. W. J. Hill

The wool trend was accelerated by the rise in the British market, and early in the year the wool market was in a better state than it had been for some time, and that the prices of wool had advanced.

Mr. W. J. Hill

The wool trend was accelerated by the rise in the British market, and early in the year the wool market was in a better state than it had been for some time, and that the prices of wool had advanced.