Dr. H. C. C. Rennie

Expressions of Regret

Explanations for An Unpopular Death of the late Dr. H. C. C. Rennie, second son of Prof. A. H. C. Rennie, have been given by relatives and friends. The family, who have joined in the public mourning for Dr. Rennie, have been asked not to return Dr. Rennie's remains to South Australia, as the family do not wish to continue the controversy surrounding Dr. Rennie's death.

Dr. L. Hayward stated that Dr. Rennie was a popular figure at Park Church, and he felt that the family took their responsibilities seriously. He said that Dr. Rennie's death was a great loss to the medical community of South Australia. There was a strong tradition of excellence in the medical profession, and Dr. Rennie was a part of that tradition.

Dr. Rennie's death was sudden and unexpected. He was last seen alive at Park Church on the day of his death. He was last seen in good health and there were no apparent signs of illness.

A funeral service was held at the Church of the Good Shepherd, and was attended by many members of the community. The service was a time of reflection and tribute to Dr. Rennie's life and work.

The late Dr. H. C. C. Rennie

FEDERAL FORESTRY SCHOOL

The importance of Australia's forests is recognized in many ways. The States have between them some 10,000,000 acres of forested area, which is about 30% of the total area of the country. This forest land is used for a variety of purposes, including timber, fuel, and recreation.

The Federal Forestry School is located in the scenic Tidbinbilla area, about 25 km from Canberra. The School aims to provide training and education in forestry and related fields.

The School is well-equipped with modern facilities, including a state-of-the-art computer laboratory, a research laboratory, and a fully-stocked library.

The School offers a range of courses, including a Bachelor of Science in Forestry, a Postgraduate Diploma in Forest Management, and a Certificate in Forest Science.

The School is open to applications from both domestic and international students. Students are encouraged to apply for financial assistance, including scholarships and bursaries.

For more information, please visit the School's website at www.fedforestry.edu.au.