UNIVERSITY OF ADELAIDE

The Register of the University has been advised that the three free passages offered to students proceeding to Europe to continue their education have been awarded to Miss E. J. Bowes, B.Sc., and Misses I. S. Robertson and Misses J. G. Wood, B.A., to London and Paris. The scholarship awarded to the University is a token of appreciation to the University for the education offered to the students.

PASSAGES FOR STUDENTS.

Advice has been received by the Regis-

"FODDER GRASS EXPERIMENTS."

Fodder Grass Experiments.

An Observation Plot at the Wattle Research Institute accommodating 67 different fodder grasses, representing the best of the introduced varieties, a number of national grasses, 15 varieties of clover, and 12 of lucerne. These are each labelled with both popular and botanical names.

Eld er Conservatorium Concert

A concert was held in the Eld er Conservatorium on Saturday evening, under the direction of Mr. W. T. Reid. The programme was well received, and the rendering of the Schumann violin concerto was particularly appreciated.

Chamber Music.

A MEMORABLE PERFORMER.

The Elder Conservatorium String Quartet gave the second concert of the series at the Athenaeum Club, Northcote, on Thursday evening, the performance being presented to an audience of 500. The personnel of the quartet is as follows: Mr. Charles Schubert, violin; Mr. A. M. Newbery, viola; Miss A. G. Ross, cello; and Miss E. J. Bowes, piano. The programme included works by Haydn, Beethoven, and Schumann.

ANCIENT AGRICULTURE.

ITS APPLICATION TO MODERN EGYPT.

The Prince of Wales Theatre, at the time of the visit of the Prince of Wales, was the scene of a series of lectures on "Ancient Agriculture." Professor Price, who lectured on the subject, said that the Egyptian farmer had been a model of efficiency, and that the principles of ancient agriculture could be applied to modern farm practice.

The presentation of the Prince of Wales to the Prince of Wales took place in the Theatre, and the Prince of Wales was received with great enthusiasm. The lecture was followed by a discussion, in which the Prince of Wales and the Prince of Wales, in his capacity as President of the Royal Agricultural Society, took a prominent part.

The lecture was followed by a discussion, in which the Prince of Wales and the Prince of Wales, in his capacity as President of the Royal Agricultural Society, took a prominent part.