FARM FINANCE

(By Dr. H. H. Hagan)

When the State Parliament meets the Government intends to amend the Banking Act, and it is likely that the new Banking Act will probably raise the interest rate on farm mortgages. The new Banking Act will probably do away with the old method of granting credit to farmers, and the interest rate on farm mortgages will be raised. While the existing Banking Act guarantees the security of farmers, the new Banking Act will not guarantee the security of farmers' property. The new Banking Act will only guarantee the security of farmers' property to the extent of the value of the property. The new Banking Act will not guarantee the security of farmers' property to the extent of the value of the property.

Agricultural Banks

In Australia the practice has been to give credit to farmers by selling land, then lend the money to the farmers. This practice has been continued, and the interest rate on farm mortgages has been raised. While the existing Banking Act guarantees the security of farmers, the new Banking Act will not guarantee the security of farmers' property. The new Banking Act will only guarantee the security of farmers' property to the extent of the value of the property. The new Banking Act will not guarantee the security of farmers' property to the extent of the value of the property.

Promising Student Orchestra

No more difficult task can imagination be imagined than the task of choosing the best student orchestra in the country. A.R.C.M. has already prepared a list of the best student orchestras in the country, and it has been determined that the best student orchestra in the country will be chosen by a vote of the students. The vote will be taken in three parts. In the first part, the students will vote for the best student orchestra in the country. In the second part, the students will vote for the best student conductor in the country. In the third part, the students will vote for the best student composer in the country.
