The Advertiser

Wednesday, March 15, 1893.

The popularity of the public examination has increased, and the University authorities have made arrangements to provide an advanced course of study for those who wish to pursue higher education. This course will be conducted under the direction of the University Council, and will be designed to meet the needs of students who are interested in the study of music.

Adelaide University: Preliminary Examination

At the Adelaide University, preliminary examinations are held twice a year, one in March and one in September. The March examinations are held to determine the eligibility of students who wish to proceed to the advanced course of study. These examinations are open to all students, and are conducted by the University Council.

The Register

Adelaide: Tuesday, March 14, 1893.

Professor Penfold—Mr. W. W. Penfold, L.L.D., D.A., Professor of Law at the Adelaide University, has been appointed to the position of Director of the University Law School. He brings to the position a wealth of experience in the field of law, and is well respected for his scholarly work.

The Advertiser

Wednesday, March 15, 1893.

Dr. F. W. Renshaw, Professor of Music at the University of Adelaide, has been given leave of absence from his duties for the purpose of starting a new enterprise in the field of music. During his absence, the duties of the position will be taken by Mr. G. J. R. Murray, who has been appointed as Acting Professor.

The Register

Adelaide: Wednesday, March 15, 1893.

University School of Music—Since the inception of the public examination system, the popularity of the school has greatly increased, and the University authorities have made arrangements to provide an advanced course of study for those who wish to pursue higher education. This course will be conducted under the direction of the University Council, and will be designed to meet the needs of students who are interested in the study of music.

The Register

Adelaide: Wednesday, March 15, 1893.