University movement. The central pur- pose of every University should be the cultivation of learning for its own sake. The forces of blind materialism tend continually to overspread the whole world, and to outstrip the minds of men of grace. But it is the function of the Uni- versity to stand as the stronghold of pure learning and its higher motives, just as it is the part of the Church to stand up for pure justice against the outcry arising from the leastest of conceptions of spiritual truth. Hence arises the importance of that corporate life intellectual, social, and moral of which Dr. Bovay so strongly insist. For what can be accomplished by any strong- hold whose garrison has lost all sense of {imperio de corpe}
