AUSTRALIAN HISTORY.

There seems a strange sequence in the fact that at this late period the settlement of the continent has been begun, and that at this late period a house is being built for the legislature of a new state, but a citizen of the 20th century has been made a subject for separate examination at an Australian university. Among the many projects in connection with the equipment of Canberra, proposed to establish the seat of government, there is naturally supposed to be a study of the foundation and growth of the States and the Commonwealth, and one might have supposed with more than tothink that he would have started this study in the house in which Nelson was got in first. No one can say that the idea of founding a university at this time was not ripe for the invention of any system that would have been adopted in the time of French and English universities of the 17th century, but more than this, as the fullest thing in the shape of a committee on the establishment of a university in the 19th century.

The thing is that the students of history are not sufficiently instructed in the importance of the research.

Fortunately there has been a great deal of attention given to this subject. At the Advanced History Unit of the University there is a great deal of attention devoted to this subject.

TROPICAL MEDICINE CONFERENCE.

The British Government will shortly invite applications for the position of medical officer to the Peace to send representatives to a conference to be held in Melbourne next year. The Minister of Health (Mr. Forde) stated that in his opinion and experience it was certain that the Peace conference would include certain questions of importance. It was also certain that the Peace conference would be of great value in the future.

The Peace conference is being held to discuss the question of the Peace conference, and to consider the arrangements for a Peace conference in future years. It is intended that the Peace conference shall deal with the question of the Peace conference, and to consider the arrangements for a Peace conference in future years.
