NEW ATTORNEY-GENERAL

Mr. Latham, of Victoria

CONSTITUTIONAL AUTHORITY

Following an interview he had with Governor-General in Adelaide, Mr. Price (Prime Minister) announced that Mr. Willoughby (Federal Attorney-General) had received the news of his appointment. The Minister for Legal and Administrative Services, Mr. T. O. Latham, the Member for South Melbourne, was appointed as Attorney-General.

Mr. J. G. Latham

who has been appointed by Governor-General in succession to Sir Littleton Groom.

The ceremony was brief, and Mr. Govett, Mr. Latham's Government Assistant, accompanied by Mr. Latham, presented the official document to Mr. Price. The new Attorney-General, Mr. Latham, had replaced the Governor-General in the position that Sir Littleton Groom had held for many years. The ceremony took place at Government House, and was witnessed by the leaders of the Opposition and some Cabinet Ministers.

Mr. Price said that the new appointment was a most interesting event in the history of the Commonwealth, and that it had been made with a view to ensuring the best possible representation in the office of the Attorney-General.

Mr. Latham said that he would do his best to carry out the wishes of the Government, and that he would be guided in his work by the advice of his colleagues.

FOREST CONSERVATION

The fact that Australia imports nearly half of her requirements in timber renders the more desirable the destruction of crops in a few days in Europe or in the United States, where forests are exterminated. The value of timber is very great, and the destruction of forests by fire is a serious matter.

In the United States, the forests are the property of the Government, and are managed by the Forest Service. The forests are not destroyed by fire, but are cut down and sold for lumber. The value of timber is very great, and the destruction of forests by fire is a serious matter.

Mr. H. R. Richardson, the Director of the Forest Research Institute, accompanied by Mr. Richardson, will visit the United States, and will confer with the Forest Service on the subject of forest management.

RHODES TRUST

Plans for Coming Year

LONDON, December 30.

The report of the Rhodes Trust for the academic year 1924-1925 has been published. The Trust has awarded 185 scholarships to students from the United States, and 185 students are in residence at Oxford University.

The Trust was founded in 1902 by the late Cecil Rhodes, the South African statesman, to provide education for young men from the dependencies of the British Empire.

The scholarships are awarded to students who have shown exceptional ability in their studies and who have shown a desire to contribute to the development of the Commonwealth.

The Trust has awarded 1,380 scholarships to students from the United States since its inception, and 185 new scholarships were awarded for the academic year 1924-1925.

The Trust has awarded 1,380 scholarships to students from the United States since its inception, and 185 new scholarships were awarded for the academic year 1924-1925.

The report of the Trust for the academic year 1924-1925 has been published. The Trust has awarded 185 scholarships to students from the United States, and 185 students are in residence at Oxford University.

The Trust was founded in 1902 by the late Cecil Rhodes, the South African statesman, to provide education for young men from the dependencies of the British Empire.

The scholarships are awarded to students who have shown exceptional ability in their studies and who have shown a desire to contribute to the development of the Commonwealth.

The Trust has awarded 1,380 scholarships to students from the United States since its inception, and 185 new scholarships were awarded for the academic year 1924-1925.

The Trust has awarded 1,380 scholarships to students from the United States since its inception, and 185 new scholarships were awarded for the academic year 1924-1925.

The report of the Trust for the academic year 1924-1925 has been published. The Trust has awarded 185 scholarships to students from the United States, and 185 students are in residence at Oxford University.

The Trust was founded in 1902 by the late Cecil Rhodes, the South African statesman, to provide education for young men from the dependencies of the British Empire.

The scholarships are awarded to students who have shown exceptional ability in their studies and who have shown a desire to contribute to the development of the Commonwealth.

The Trust has awarded 1,380 scholarships to students from the United States since its inception, and 185 new scholarships were awarded for the academic year 1924-1925.

The Trust has awarded 1,380 scholarships to students from the United States since its inception, and 185 new scholarships were awarded for the academic year 1924-1925.

The report of the Trust for the academic year 1924-1925 has been published. The Trust has awarded 185 scholarships to students from the United States, and 185 students are in residence at Oxford University.

The Trust was founded in 1902 by the late Cecil Rhodes, the South African statesman, to provide education for young men from the dependencies of the British Empire.

The scholarships are awarded to students who have shown exceptional ability in their studies and who have shown a desire to contribute to the development of the Commonwealth.