THE CHIEF JUSTICE
RETURN BY THE ORAMA.
A DELIGHTFUL TRIP.

Sir George Murray, the Chief Justice, returned to Australia by the Orama, after a visit to Britain and the Continent. He had been accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Murray, and their family. The trip was his first to Britain and the Continent, and he found it an enjoyable experience. He particularly enjoyed the scenery and the culture of the countries visited, including France, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland, and Italy.

Sir George Murray was well received by the people wherever he went, and his presence was welcomed by all who met him. He was a popular figure, and his every word and action was received with great interest. His speech was fluent and well-structured, and his presence was a great asset to the country.

The Chief Justice said that his trip had been a source of great inspiration to him, and he hoped that it would continue to be a source of inspiration to all who heard him. He believed that the trip had been a great success, and he looked forward to returning to Australia in the near future.

CALLED TO THE BAR.
Seven New Practitioners.

Before the Bar Court, comprising the Acting Chief Justice, Mr. W. H. Sankey, Mr. Justice Angus Parson, and Mr. Justice John Casey, a number of new members were admitted to the Bar. Among those who were admitted were Mr. J. R. L. Peters, Mr. J. Morgan, Mr. G. H. Moore, Mr. H. L. Ford, Mr. M. D. Smith, and Mr. J. A. H. Whyld. The Attorney-General, Mr. W. H. Sankey, presented the certificates of admission to the Bar and took the oath with the new members.

Seven New Practitioners.

The New Practitioners. Mr. J. R. L. Peters, Mr. J. Morgan, Mr. G. H. Moore, Mr. H. L. Ford, Mr. M. D. Smith, and Mr. J. A. H. Whyld were admitted to the Bar on the recommendation of the Attorney-General, Mr. W. H. Sankey. They are all well known in the legal profession, and their admission to the Bar is a great addition to the ranks of the Bar. The new members are expected to make a great contribution to the Bar and to the legal profession.

Allegations Concerning Papers.

SYDNEY, Friday.

Recently serious allegations were made to the Ministry concerning a recent denunciation of the executive. It appears that the Ministry was informed that certain papers were being held for the purpose of damaging the executive. The Ministry immediately took action, and an investigation was conducted. It was discovered that the papers were being held for the purpose of damaging the executive, and that the Ministry had been misled.

The papers were turned over to the Attorney-General, who is conducting an investigation into the matter. The Ministry is determined to take all necessary steps to ensure that the executive is protected.

DOCTORATES OF SCIENCE.

MELBOURNE, December 28.

Following the precedent of his predecessor, the Ministry has awarded the degree of Doctor of Science to Mr. J. R. Chapman, of the University of Melbourne. Mr. Chapman was presented with the degree by the President of the University, Mr. W. H. Sankey. The degree was awarded for his contributions to the field of science.

The President of the University said that Mr. Chapman was a brilliant scientist, and that his contributions to the field of science were of great importance. He said that Mr. Chapman was a great asset to the University and to the country, and that his contributions to science would be remembered for many years to come.

The degree was presented to Mr. Chapman in a special ceremony, and he was presented with a scroll and a medal.

The ceremony was attended by many members of the University and the scientific community.

A WONDROUS WHISPERING GALLERY.

The Barossa, which is one of the most popular of the wines of the world, is now gaining more popularity each year. The Barossa is grown in the Barossa Valley, which is more than 300 feet above sea level. The Barossa Valley is a very fruitful region, and the wine is produced in great quantities. The Barossa is grown from grapes which are specially selected for their quality, and the wine is aged for many years before it is sold.

The Barossa is a very popular wine, and is sold in many countries around the world. It is a very expensive wine, but it is well worth the money. The Barossa is a very fine wine, and is highly recommended to all who enjoy good wine.

The Barossa is a very fine wine, and is highly recommended to all who enjoy good wine.