STUDENT OPERA
ELDER CONSERVATORIUM INNOVATION
The success of the students' opera class of the Elder Conservatorium on Friday evening was quite overwhelming. There was an excellent audience at the North-west Town Hall. The previous program was repeated, under the direction of Miss Alice Clarke, Miss Barlow, but new principals were entrusted with the responsibilities. The opera was sung by Miss Philippa Lovett—who also took part in the previous performance—was splendidly performed. The Madam Tussaud, the first part of the evening's program, and reported as being a great success. The opera was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. Several encoreус were given. The opera was a great success and the audience was greatly pleased with the performance. The opera was repeated and the audience was greatly pleased with the performance.

Dr. C. W. Yee, President of New York, arrived in Australia yesterday. His object in coming is to raise funds for the education of children in Australia. He is being entertained by the University, and is expected to make a valuable speech on the subject of education. The University is sending a present to the President, which is expected to be of great value. Dr. Yee is expected to make a valuable speech at the University, which will be of great value to the students. The President is expected to make a valuable speech at the University, which will be of great value to the students.

Mr. W. A. Bruce, Acting Lord Mayor, pointed out that the University has been elected on April 29 of this year. On the death of Mr. Thomas Gill in April, he was appointed a member of the Board of Trustees of the University. At the meeting of the Board, he was appointed as President of the Taxpayers' Association, and is President of the Board. He is a member of the well-known firm of Wallace & Co., insurance brokers, as well as director of several manufacturing and commercial companies, and in addition, he has considerable interests in various properties. As a member of the Adelaide Club, Mr. Bruce has the support of his fellow representatives and other businessmen. His remarks not a public speaker—get heard with interest. The speech showed his concern by nominating him for representation on the Government. To that branch of his public work the member does not often have time and thought. For instance, when in a recent visit to Europe, he forwarded considerable support to the Government in various matters of great importance.
