

10th. February, 1930.

Professor Bhai Balmukand,
Agricultural College,
Lyallpur,
Punjab,
India.

Dear Balmukand,

I was glad to have your letter, and particularly glad that you are being asked to report and lecture on statistical methods. I feel sure that the subject is one that will attract increasing interest on the research side, and that you should be prepared to take an increasingly prominent part in its development in India.

Yours sincerely,