Dear Fisher,

I have enclosed the enclosed, though not as lore into it, and rather hope you will do so also, as we seem hand up for material for October.

After my doubts as to Malinowski and your not initially it, Mr H. very rightly said it back I was saying we could use, take it. But for that some useful material, I think, I note that the birth rate lag behind death rate, between the two, I can easily understand short-period oscillations in death rate; as the result of disease. Temporary uncertainty and other causes might do it. I take it so critical an article means no more than in the present state of articles. Offered it is best to take it.

Yours,
