Caen February 16th 1952

Dear Peppe,

Hearing yesterday the relation of the burial of King George on the radio, I remembered the time when I arrived at the Galton Laboratory just at the beginning of the reign. May I tell you it was the best year of my youth. Many things happened since then onwards. And the present mourning of Great Britain is an occasion for many people in France (I am amongst them) to think of the friends they have in England.
Very recently I had good news of you through Professor Bolke and Damout. And very often I am sorry to tell me of your daughters.

With my best wishes for your family.

Yours sincerely,

Daniel Dupuis
