Dear Mrs Fisher,

it was with the greatest regret that I read of the loss of your husband, whose loss will be felt very far beyond the limits of his family or immediate friends.

I have been in India of late, and only found your card on my return.

I very much admired Edgari's work, and regarded him as one of the greatest influences on the Royal Statistical Society, and the International Statistical Institute. I was looking forward to meeting him in Paris this year. His work remains, but this is not enough; really he has stood a great many of us men tolerant and more sensible.

With best wishes and condolences

Sincerely yours

Ronald (A Fisher)
