February 26th, 1936.

My dear Fisher,

Thank you for your most helpful letter, full of interesting suggestions. It will certainly try to get data on the nature of the Polish comb in the way you suggest, now that you have raised the point.

It may not have an opportunity to do this at first, as our accommodation and room is very limited. Two of our pens will be taken up at the start in obtaining normal silly and Polish chikers for de Beer's embryological material, so that... only one or two courses can be made this year. Naturally I am very keen to see you and talk the matter over. Also to look at the interesting work you have in hand which you told me about in a former letter. Are you likely to be in London next Saturday (29th) for the Botanical Society? If so, and you have any time free in the morning, I could come up and get to you thence it suits you from 11:30 onwards. (My train gets to Paddington at 11:10).
Naturally don't allow any arrangements on my account, or come up to London unless you are doing so in any case. However, if really convenient for you, it would be a great pleasure to me.

Thank you for the address, and for your most helpful letter.

Yours sincerely,

[Signature]

[Name] B. Ford