E.B. Ford, Esq., M.A.,
16 Museum Road,
OXFORD.

Dear Ford,

About dimorphism, I shall certainly be writing, but I hope much later, say a year hence; meanwhile if you think it worth while to mention my suggestion, the best case to take would be my remarks on Papilio polytes and Oliaea. I am very glad you see the point of that argument from genetic balance, as it makes hay of Haldane's assumption underlying

"Fisher's theory cannot explain ............"

in fact "Je n'en croie pas la necessite".

The polymorphic types like Appetettix will be fascinating when the more complete observations have been taken.

Yours sincerely,