Dear Dr. Fisher,

You will perhaps remember that I discussed with you an experiment on the estimation of genetic variance in inter-strain crosses in cotton hybrids. I have now written up a draft paper on it, and I am enclosing a copy as I think you will probably like to see it. I should very much appreciate your opinion on my speculations concerning the relative importance of dominance and epistasy.

Yours sincerely,

[Signature]

Geneticist.

Dr. R.A. Fisher,
University of London,
Galton Laboratory,
Gower St.,
London, W.C.1