October 22, 1937

Dear Dr Muller,

We have heard with great interest in this Department that you are likely to be soon visiting England, and I wondered whether you would find time to lunch with me some day, and perhaps give a short talk in the afternoon to the members of the Department. We have such seminars ordinarily on Wednesdays, and if either the 3rd or the 17th November special would suit you there would be no need to make/arrangements. However, if these dates do not suit I hope you will not hesitate to suggest an alternative date.

Yours sincerely,

[Signature]

Dear Provost,

October 22, 1937