
Dear Todd,

I do not know whether I have mentioned to you, but I now have the typescript of Lars Friberg's paper which he has contributed to the British Medical Journal, and I hope they may publish it. I hope to send it you in a few days.

With respect to the outsize enquiry planned by Tage Kemp and his assistants, it might be worthwhile to try to find out firstly how these workers propose to distinguish between an association in monozygotic pairs of cancer and smoking resulting from the incipient cancer, causing a lead for mild self-narcosis, and on the other hand, the fumes of burning tobacco inducing the initiation of a malignant growth. It sounds like one of those researches planned by people who think that if the material is extensive enough it does not matter how bad the plan is. The second point which I think the planners ought to make clear is how they will measure the extent to which the association in question is diminished when genotypic differences are eliminated.

I have sent back the material to Oliver & Boyd today.

Sincerely yours,

G. F. Todd, Esq., O.B.E., M.A.
