

27th April, 1954.

My dear Scott,

Thank you for your letter, which reached me yesterday, inviting me to consider joining the Advisory Committee of the Wildfowl Trust.

I am very glad to accept this flattering suggestion, even though I may be, as you suspect, not a very regular attendant at meetings. What I try to do in such cases is to try to come if the chairman, in looking over the agenda, decides he wants me to be there.

Sincerely yours,
