Dr. R. A. Fisher,
Galton Laboratory,
University of London, University College,

Dear Professor Fisher:

I have no objection to your sending the copy of your letter to me to Deming but he is a rather young man and if I were you I would cut out the names of Neyman and Pearson and possibly of Treloar and Wilder.

I took the liberty of taking up all the points of your letter with Birge who is a member of the National Academy of Sciences and who will be personally responsible for recommending that the article appear in the Proceedings if he finally decides to make that recommendation.

Yours very sincerely,
