PREFACE.

THE UNIVERSITY OF ADELAIDE was established by Act of Parliament in the year 1874, and in the year 1881 Royal Letters Patent were issued by Her Majesty Queen Victoria declaring that the degrees granted by it should be recognized as academic distinctions, and be entitled to rank, precedence, and consideration throughout the British Empire, as if granted by any University in the United Kingdom. An additional Royal Charter was granted in 1913 in respect to the Degrees of Bachelor and Master of Engineering, and Bachelor and Master of Surgery.

The University owes its origin to the munificence and public spirit of the late Sir Walter Watson Hughes and Sir Thomas Elder, G.C.M.G., from each of whom a gift of £20,000 was received for this purpose. Further endowments were granted by Parliament, provision being made in the Act of Incorporation, 1874, for an annual grant from the public revenues of South Australia of five per cent. on the capital funds possessed by the University, but not to exceed in any one year the sum of £10,000. Under the authority of the same Act an endowment in land of 50,000 acres and a grant of five acres in the City of Adelaide as a site for the University buildings were given. The country lands were subsequently repurchased for £40,000 by the Government. By an Act of 1911, Parliament made an additional annual grant of £4,000. In order to meet the urgent needs of the University the Government, in 1920, provided an additional grant of £20,000 per annum, and erected a building for the departments of Physics and Engineering.

The University grants degrees in Arts, Economics, Science, Law, Medicine, Dentistry, Engineering, Music, and Agricultural Science, and Diplomas in Commerce, Music, Education, Public Administration, Pharmacy, and various branches of Applied Science. It was authorized to grant degrees to women and degrees in Science by Act of Parliament in 1880.

At first the Professorships founded in the University were four in number, their subjects being the following:—(1) Classics and Comparative Philology and Literature, (2) English Language and Literature, Mental and Moral Philosophy, (3) Mathematics, and (4) Natural Science. The Chairs now are:—

(1) Classics and Comparative Philology and Literature, (2) Philosophy, (3) Political Science and History, (4) Engineering, (5) Physics, (6) Anatomy and Histology, (7) Biochemistry and General Physiology, (8) Chemistry, (9) Botany, (10) Law, (11) Music, (12) Pathology, (13) Mathematics, (14) Geology and Mineralogy, (15) Zoology, (16) English Language and Literature, (17) Agriculture, (18) Agricultural Chemistry, (19) Human Physiology and Pharmacology, (20) Economics.

Besides the twenty Professors, there are now over sixty Lecturers, and there are eighteen Teachers in the Elder Conservatorium of Music.

The academical work of the University was commenced in March, 1876, the number of matriculated students being eight, and of non-graduating students attending lectures fifty-two. The foundation-stone of the University buildings was laid in 1879, and the buildings were opened in April, 1882.

In 1883 Sir Thomas Elder gave £10,000 for the foundation of a School of Medicine. In 1884 the Hon. J. H. Angas gave £6,000 for the endowment of a Chair of Chemistry.

In 1878 the Hon. J. H. Angas gave £4,000 to provide Scholarships to encourage the training of scientific men, and especially civil engineers, with a view to their settlement in South Australia.

In and after 1892 Robert Barr Smith, Esquire, presented to the University £9,000 for the purposes of the Library. In 1920 the sum of £11,000 was added by members of his family as a permanent endowment.

Sir Thomas Elder died in 1897, bequeathing to the University the sum of £65,000, his total gifts to it amounting from first to last to nearly £100,000. By his will £20,000 was apportioned to the School of Medicine and £20,000 to the School of Music, while the residue was left available for the general purposes of the University. The Elder Conservatorium of Music was accordingly established in 1898. The Conservatorium Building was completed in 1900. It contains, in addition to every requirement for teaching both Theory and Practice of Music, an Elder Hall, in which the principal meetings of the University are held. The steadily increasing number of students in all courses necessitated large and costly additions to the University Buildings in 1901, 1902, and 1912. By an agreement with the South Australian School of Mines the two institutions combine their teaching powers and their laboratories for instruction in Mining Engineering, Metallurgy, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Civil Engineering, and Architectural Engineering. The University and the School of Mines, acting in concert, hold examinations and grant Diplomas in various branches of Applied Science.

In 1914 Mr. Peter Waite, with a view to advancing the cause of education in Agriculture, Forestry, and such allied subjects as may from time to time, in the opinion of the Council of the University, tend to the better development of the natural resources of the land, transferred the whole of his valuable Urrbrae Estate at Glen Osmond to the University. The estate comprises an area of 134 acres and a mansion house; the western half is to be held by the University in perpetuity as a park for the enjoyment of the public; the remainder of the estate, upon which the house stands, has been utilized in giving effect to the wishes of the generous donor in regard to Agricultural education by the establishment of the Waite Agricultural Research Institute. In 1915 Mr. Waite supplemented his gift by the addition of the adjoining estate of Claremont and part of Netherby. To provide funds to enable these gifts to be effectively used, Mr. Waite, in 1918, transferred to trustees, for the University, 4,900 shares in Elder, Smith, & Co., Ltd. The shares, which carried with them the benefit of a new issue of bonus shares to the number of 980, making the total shares 5,880, have since been realized, producing the sum of £58,450. The value of these gifts is estimated to be £100,000. The endowments for education in agricultural subjects were further increased in 1931 by the bequest of Mrs. Elizabeth Macmeikan, daughter of Mr. Peter Waite, who left her residuary estate, which is at present valued at £16,099, to the University of Adelaide to be used for the same purpose as the gifts by her father.

In 1915 Sir Edwin Smith gave, through the S.A. Commercial Travellers' Association, the sum of £500 to found a scholarship tenable for any degree course, in memory of his grandson, Eric Wilkes Smith, mortally wounded in the attack upon the Dardanelles in April, 1915. The late John Harvey Finlayson bequeathed the sum of £200 to provide a Scholarship in Political Economy or some cognate subject, and the Old Scholars of the late John L. Young subscribed £700 for the purpose of founding a Research Scholarship. Both these Scholarships have been founded to perpetuate the memory of John L. Young.

In 1918 Mrs. A. M. Simpson gave £500 for the purpose of founding a library in aeronautics, in memory of her late husband, Alfred Muller Simpson.

In 1919 the sons and daughters of the late Mr. John Darling gave the sum of £15,000 towards the cost of a new medical building. The Darling Building was formally opened in 1922.

In 1920 the sum of £7,000, subscribed by a number of citizens, was paid to the University as a permanent endowment for the promotion of research on the growth and nutrition of man and animals. The Old Scholars of the late John L. Young further increased the endowment for the Research Scholarship by £200 in 1921. The sum of £50 was received from the North Adelaide Congregational Church for the purpose of providing a memorial to the Rev. Jas. Jefferis, LL.D., who was closely associated with the University from its foundation until his death in 1918.

In 1921 Mrs. G. A. Jury gave £12,000 to found a separate Chair of English Literature to bear her husband's name. The Old Scholars of Tormore House School paid the sum of £130 for the purpose of providing a prize to perpetuate the memory of the School.

In 1922 Mrs. Jane Marks bequeathed £30,000 to the Medical School; and Mrs. A. M. Simpson and Miss A. F. Keith Sheridan jointly bequeathed property of the estimated value of £20,000 to the same School for the purpose of medical research. The Old Scholars of Miss Annie Montgomerie Martin presented the sum of £150 for the purpose of providing an annual prize and medal to perpetuate her memory.

In 1923 the Adelaide Co-operative Society provided £150 for a Bursary in memory of the late George Thompson; and Mr. T. E. Barr Smith gave £100 to provide an annual prize for an essay on the work of the League of Nations.

In 1924 Mrs. Agnes Ayers bequeathed £500 for general purposes; the Old Scholars of the Methodist Ladies' College donated £100, and a further sum of £650 was raised by public subscription to provide a library in Psychology to commemorate Miss Sarah Elizabeth Jackson, M.A. Mr. James Gartrell gave £200 to provide an annual prize for Elementary Comparative Philology and Ethnology.

In 1925 the Old Scholars of the Unley Park School subscribed the sum of £450 to found a bursary in memory of the late Catherine Maria Thornber, formerly Principal of that School.

In 1926 the Honourable Sir Langdon Bonython, K.C.M.G., gave the sum of £20,000 to endow the Chair of Law. The Honourable Sir Josiah Symon, K.C.M.G., K.C., gave the sum of £10,000 for the building of the women's portion of the proposed University Union and for the library therein. The building will be known as "The Lady Symon Building, the gift of Sir Josiah Symon." Sir Joseph Verco provided the sum of £5,000 to secure the publication of the results of research in the medical sciences, and Mr. J. T. Mortlock gave the sum of £2,000 to assist the Council in equipping the Waite Agricultural Research Institute. The Council accepted the trusteeship of the fund for the encouragement of orchestral music inaugurated by Mr. Percy Grainger in honour of his mother.

In 1927 Mr. T. E. Barr Smith gave the sum of £20,000 to provide a building for the Barr Smith Library. The amount was increased by a further gift of £10,000 in 1929 and by the addition of interest to £34,718. The building was completed in 1932.

Mr. John Melrose gave the sum of £10,000 for a chemical laboratory at the Waite Agricultural Research Institute.

The members of the family of the late John Darling gave £10,000 for a laboratory for soils research, and the directors of the Commonwealth Bank granted £2,500 from the Rural Credits Development Fund towards the cost of plant culture houses and an insectary at the Waite Agricultural Research Institute.

In 1930 the Honourable Sir Langdon Bonython provided the sum of £40,000 for the erection of a Great Hall. The amount has since been increased by additions of interest and other gifts to £52,181. Work was begun on the building in June, 1933, and the foundation stone was laid by Sir Langdon on 4th December, 1933.

In 1935, during the celebrations of the jubilee of the medical school, Miss Edith Bonython, Mr. Norman Darling, and Mr. T. E. Barr Smith promised £5,000 each towards the cost of a medical research laboratory.

From the estate of the late Ronald Lindsay Johnson, the Council received a piece of land in Waymouth Street; on its realization the proceeds will be applied in accordance with the terms of the gift towards the cost of the erection of the Johnson Chemical Laboratories.

The University is governed by a Council, which, from its commencement until 1911, consisted of 20 members, elected by the Senate, one-fourth retiring every year. By an amending Act of 1911, the State Parliament gave itself the right to appoint from among its own members five additional members of Council, holding office during the life of the Parliament which appointed them. The Council thus now consists of 25 in all.

The Senate consists of all graduates of the degree of Master or Doctor, and all other graduates of three years' standing. All Statutes and Regulations must be passed both by the Council and by the Senate and approved by the Governor of South Australia, who is ex-officio Visitor to the University.

The number of graduates admitted by examination since the establishment of the University is 2,664, and the number admitted ad eundem gradum, 453. The number of undergraduates in 1935 was 939, of non-graduating students 956, and of post-graduate students, 177. The number of those studying at the Elder Conservatorium was 262.

The University conducts Public Examinations in general education, in commerce, and in music.

Whereas on the 4th day of January, 1888, the Honourable John Howard Angas, M.L.C., paid the sum of £4,000 to the University for the purpose of permanently founding (with the income thereof and the annual grant payable in respect thereof under the Fifteenth Section of the Adelaide University Act), the Angas Engineering Scholarship and the Angas Engineering Exhibitions, to encourage the training of scientific men, and especially Engineers, with a view to their settlement in South Australia: Now it is hereby provided as follows:—

A. The Angas Engineering Scholarship.

1. There shall be a Scholarship called the "Angas Engineering Scholarship," of the annual value of £200, for two years, with an additional allowance of £100 for travelling expenses.

2. Each candidate for the Scholarship must be under twenty-five years of age on the first day of the month in which he shall compete for it, and must have resided in South Australia for at least five years. He shall produce such evidence of good health as shall be satisfactory to the Council.

3. Candidates for the Scholarship must have graduated in Arts or Science, or have passed all the examinations necessary for graduating in Engineering at the University of Adelaide.

4. The Scholarship shall be competed for biennially, in the month of June. If on any competition the examiners shall not consider any candidate worthy to receive it, the Scholarship shall for that year lapse, but shall be again competed for in the month of June next ensuing.

5. The Scholarship shall be awarded by the examiners on a comparison of the academic records of the candidates, and also on the merits of an original thesis, design, or investigation, as set forth in the next paragraph.

Each candidate for the Scholarship must send in to the examiners, on or before 1st June of the year in which the competition is held, either an original engineering thesis or design, or a paper setting forth the results of an original scientific investigation made by the candidate in some subject allied to engineering. The subject of the thesis, design, or investigation, must have been submitted at least two months previously to the Faculty of Science, and approved by it. Each candidate must adduce, if required, sufficient evidence of the authenticity of his thesis, design, or investigation. He may, if the examiners think fit, be required to pass an examination in that branch of the work from which the subject of his thesis, design, or investigation, is taken.

*Either the original or an approved copy of each thesis, design, or report of an investigation submitted by a successful candidate for the scholarship shall be deposited by the scholar in the University library before payment of any portion of the scholarship is made.

6. Within such time after gaining the Scholarship as the Council shall in each case allow, the Scholar shall proceed to the United Kingdom and there spend the whole of the time during which the Scholarship is tenable in gaining engineering knowledge and experience in such a manner as may be approved by the Council; provided that the Scholar may by special permission of the Council spend the whole or part of his time in study or practical training outside the United Kingdom.

* Allowed 30th November, 1933.

7. The allowance for travelling expenses shall be paid to the Scholar upon approval of his proposed date of departure. Payment of the balance of the Scholarship shall be made quarterly, at the office of the Agent-General in London, or at such other place or places as the Council shall from time to time direct, subject after the first payment to the previous receipt of satisfactory evidence of good behaviour and continuous progress in Engineering studies, according to the course proposed to be followed by the Scholar.

8. Whenever such evidence is not satisfactory, the Council may altogether withhold, or may suspend for such time as it may deem proper, payment of the whole or of such portion as it may think fit of any moneys due, or to accrue due, to the Scholar on account of the Scholarship, or may deprive him of his Scholarship.

9. Should any successful candidate not retain the Scholarship for the full period of two years, notice of the vacancy shall be published by the Council in the Adelaide daily papers, and an examination shall be held in the month of June next ensuing.

B. The Angas Engineering Exhibitions.

10. There shall also be four "Angas Engineering Exhibitions," of which one may be awarded in each year. Each Exhibition shall be of the annual value of Fifteen Pounds, and be tenable for four years.

11. One of the Angas Engineering Exhibitions shall be open for competition at an examination in the month of November or December of each year, in subjects prescribed one year previously by the Council; but the Exhibition shall not be awarded unless the Examiners are satisfied that one of the candidates is worthy to receive it.

Candidates must, on or before the 1st of October, or, if the 1st of October falls on a Sunday, on or before the 2nd of October, give notice of their intention to present themselves for examination, and such notice must be given on a form which may be obtained from the Registrar.

Candidates who fail to give notice by the prescribed date may be permitted to present themselves on payment of a fee of 5/-.

12. Each candidate must be not more than eighteen years of age on the 31st of December in the year in which the examination is held.

13. 2. Every candidate shall submit evidence satisfactory to the Council that he has had at least three years of practical experience in Engineering work.

3. Every candidate must submit for examination a thesis which may be (a) an original design for some engineering work; or (b) an account, giving evidence of ability on the part of the candidate to cope successfully with engineering difficulties, of some engineering work for the design or construction of which the candidate has been largely responsible; or (c) an account of some original inquiry or investigation made by him into some matter connected with engineering.

The subject of the thesis shall be submitted to, and approved by, the Faculty of Science at least three months before the thesis is sent in for examination.

The candidate shall adduce, if required, sufficient evidence of the originality of his design or thesis.

4. Candidates may, if the examiners think fit, be required to pass an examination in that branch of work from which the subject of the thesis is taken, and may be required to attend at the University for that purpose.

5. Either the original or an approved copy of each design or thesis accepted for the degree shall be deposited by the candidate in the University library before he is admitted to the degree.

6. The following fees shall be payable in advance:

On presentation of thesis	£5 5 0
On entry for examination, if required	£5 5 0
On admission to the degree	£5 5 0

Allowed 3rd January, 1935.

OF THE UNIVERSITY DIPLOMA IN APPLIED SCIENCE AND THE FELLOWSHIP OF THE SOUTH AUSTRALIAN SCHOOL OF MINES AND INDUSTRIES.

Whereas the University of Adelaide and the South Australian School of Mines and Industries have agreed to unite in providing courses of instruction and examinations in various branches of Applied Science, and to grant to any candidate who completes one of these courses and passes the proper examinations the corresponding University Diploma and Fellowship of the South Australian School of Mines and Industries respectively; and whereas a Joint Board has been appointed by the Councils of the two Institutions to consider all matters arising out of the fulfilment of such Agreement, and to report thereon to the Councils of the two Institutions; and whereas a Faculty of Applied Science has been formed by the two Councils from the staffs of the two Institutions to advise the Board: Now it is hereby provided as follows:—

REGULATIONS.

*1. Every candidate for the University Diploma in Applied Science and the Fellowship of the South Australian School of Mines and Industries, before entering upon the course, must fulfil the requirements for matriculation in the Faculty of Applied Science, with the exception of the language other than English, which is not required for the Diploma nor for the Fellowship.

†2. To obtain the Diploma and the Fellowship every candidate must attend lectures regularly and pass examinations in the subjects of one of the following courses:—(a) Mining, (b) Metallurgy, (c) Electrical Engineering, (d) Mechanical Engineering, (e) Civil Engineering, (f) Architectural Engineering, and must produce evidence to the satisfaction of the Joint Board of having obtained at least twelve months' practical experience, not necessarily consecutive, in work appropriate to the course he has followed.

‡He must also produce evidence that he has attended a course of instruction in First Aid, and passed an examination approved by the Council.

†3. Schedules determining the range of study, the laboratory and other practical work, the examinations, and the fees, for the courses mentioned in the preceding regulation, shall be drawn up by the Faculty of Applied Science, submitted to the Joint Board, and, when approved by both Councils, shall be published as early as possible in each year.

¶4. All examinations referred to in these regulations shall take place in or about November, or at such other convenient times as, under special circumstances, the Council shall direct.

§Candidates must enter their names a month before the day fixed for examination, and must present certificates showing that they have regularly attended the prescribed lectures and have done written, laboratory, or other practical work (where such is required) to the satisfaction of the Lecturers.

*Allowed 3rd January, 1935. † Allowed 5th December, 1918.
‡ Allowed 17th December, 1931. § Allowed 7th December, 1911.
‖ Allowed 7th December, 1932.

Written or practical work done by candidates by direction of the Professors or Lecturers, and the results of terminal or other examinations in any subject may be taken into consideration at the final examination in that subject.

*A candidate who fails to pass in any subject of the first or second year shall again attend lectures and do practical work in that subject to the satisfaction of the Professors and Lecturers, unless exempted by the Faculty of Applied Science.

5. No candidate shall be credited in any term with attendance at lectures or laboratory work in any subject unless he has attended at least three-fourths of the lectures and laboratory work respectively in that subject, except in case of illness or other sufficient cause to be allowed by the Joint Board.

6. Any candidate wishing to attend a course of lectures (not including practical work) a second time may do so on payment of half fees.

7. A candidate may be examined in any subject without attendance at lectures, but only upon special grounds to be recommended by the Joint Board, and approved by the two Councils.‡ On entering for examination in such subject the candidate shall pay a third of the fee prescribed for that subject.

8. A candidate may, if the two Councils see fit, be excused examination in any subject, but only upon production of evidence that he has at some other University or Technical School completed a course and passed an examination which the Joint Board shall consider to be an equivalent.

9. Candidates shall submit to and observe the statutes, rules, and regulations of the Institution, whether University or School of Mines and Industries, at which they are in attendance.

10. The Faculty of Applied Science is not a Faculty within Chapter 10 of the University Statutes.

11. These Regulations shall be binding on the University so long only as the above-mentioned Agreement, or any amendment thereof, or any substituted Agreement, remains in force.

NOTE.—Holders of Diplomas may use the following letters:—

Diploma in Mining Engineering—the letters, Dip.M.E.
Diploma in Mechanical Engineering—the letters, Dip.Mech.E.
Diploma in Electrical Engineering—the letters, Dip.E.E.
Diploma in Metallurgy—the letters, Dip.Met.
Diploma in Civil Engineering—the letters, Dip.C.E.
Diploma in Architectural Engineering—the letters, Dip.Arch.E.

* Allowed 6th December, 1923. Allowed 3rd April, 1903.

‡ Any candidate obtaining an exemption is recommended to apply to the proper Lecturer for information and advice respecting the subjects of the examination.

DETAILS OF COURSES FOR 1935.

Abbreviations.—In the column headed "Hours per week" a single figure such as 2, means 2 hours per week throughout the year. A figure with a suffix such as 2_2, means two hours per week for two terms.

U—University; S.M.—School of Mines; S.A.—School of Art.

Note.—A 20 per cent. reduction in fees is to be allowed to students taking any one of these courses in full, the reduction to be made in such manner as the two Councils shall approve. This reduction does not apply to School of Art fees.

The courses are divided into years for the guidance of students. It is not necessary to take all the subjects of a year's course simultaneously, nor to complete all the subjects set out for one year before enrolling for any of the next.

In general, where a subject is divided into two or more parts which are included in different years, students are not allowed, without permission of the Faculty, to attend classes in a more advanced part until they have passed every examination in the less advanced parts. For example, they will not be enrolled for Mathematics II if they have not passed in Mathematics I, unless they have the permission of the Faculty. In certain other cases, also, a subject of one year is a pre-requisite for a subject of a later year.

On account of certain subjects being given in day and evening classes in alternate years, the grouping of subjects in even years will differ somewhat from that in odd years.

Students in outside employment, such as those on the staff of the Engineer-in-Chief or under articles to an Architect, will find themselves seriously overloaded if they attempt a full year's course. These, and all others taking less than a full year's course, or desiring to take subjects from different years, must submit their proposed course of study to the Dean of the Faculty for approval, and are advised to consult the Professor or one of the Lecturers on the matter.

A library is provided for each class by the Joint Committee. The students pay a fee of 5s. per class per annum.

The Physics Department is well equipped for the work of standardizing measures, gauges, etc.; of calibrating electrical instruments, pyrometers, or other measuring instruments; and of testing the mechanical, electrical, or magnetic properties of samples of material.

The Engineering Testing Laboratory is prepared to undertake all the usual physical tests on engineering materials, such as tests for the tensile, torsional, compressive, and shearing strengths of metals; determination of elastic constants, hardness, and elastic limit; the measurement of the transverse and compressive strengths of timbers, and the determination of the moisture content; the standard tests for cement, and the examination of the suitability of different aggregates for concrete, and tests on the strength and porosity of concrete and other materials; also the examination of metals by the metallurgical microscope.

RULES OF THE LABORATORY OF PHYSIOLOGY AND BIOCHEMISTRY.

1. The Laboratory of Physiology and Biochemistry shall be open upon each week-day during term time (Saturdays and holidays excepted) from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. For persons carrying on advanced work or original research the laboratory will also be open at such additional hours as the Professor may from time to time determine.

2. No student will be admitted to laboratory work until he has shown to the satisfaction of the Professor of Physiology and Biochemistry that he possesses sufficient theoretical knowledge to enable him to carry on his work intelligently.

3. Each student must, at the beginning of the year, pay a deposit fee of £1, against which will be debited breakage of ordinary apparatus, such as flasks, beakers, dishes, etc. The balance of this fee, if any, will be refunded at the end of the year. In addition to this deposit fee and at the same time each student must pay an annual fee of £1 on account of cost of material.

4. Students engaged in private investigations may be required to provide themselves with any materials which they may need and which are not included amongst the ordinary apparatus and reagents, also with the common apparatus and chemicals when they are employed in large quantities.

5. The larger and more expensive pieces of apparatus may be supplied for the general use of students by the laboratory on the condition that all breakages may have to be made good by the students using or breaking them on such basis as the Professor may determine.

6. All preparations made from materials supplied by the University shall be its property.

7. No experiments of a dangerous nature shall be performed without the express sanction of the Professor.

8. For original research carried on by students or graduates, with the consent and under the direction of the Professor, the laboratory will be open gratis, except as regards such payment for material and special attendance as may be considered necessary by the Professor.

THE WAITE AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH INSTITUTE.

The Waite Agricultural Research Institute was established as a result of the late Mr. Peter Waite's gift to the University of Adelaide for the purpose of furthering the cause of education and research in agriculture and allied subjects. The endowment comprises the Urrbrae, Claremont, and Netherby estates, consisting of 299 acres of agricultural and grazing land situated at Glen Osmond, and a trust fund of £58,450.

The University Council decided that the best means of giving effect to the wishes of the donor would be to establish an Agricultural Research Institute, and endeavour to enlarge the stock of knowledge relating to agriculture in the widest sense, and pass it on to those actively engaged in production as farmers and pastoralists.

Moreover, the Council decided that, for the present, investigation would be confined to plant and soil problems and to the diseases and pests of farm crops. It also appointed its Finance Committee to act as the Board of Management of the Institute.

The active work of the Institute began in March, 1925. The initial task was the gradual conversion of a large suburban estate into a modern agricultural research station. As the funds available at the inception of the Institute were insufficient to erect and equip the necessary permanent buildings, laboratories were improvised in the existing buildings on the estate, pending the erection of permanent structures.

Sixty acres of arable land on the Urrbrae estate and eleven acres on the Netherby estate were cleared and converted into permanent experimental fields for the determination of the problems affecting the production of farm crops, the improvement of crops and pastures.

A meteorological station and a system garden, containing upwards of 200 species of indigenous and exotic fodder plants, were established in 1925.

A pot culture house, 80 feet by 18 feet, was erected in 1925 to carry out investigations on the water requirements of farm crops.

Practically the entire farming plant required for the initial development of the field investigations came as gifts from agricultural implement manufacturers; and a stone implement shed, 90 feet by 30 feet, was erected to accommodate these implements.

During 1926 the Council for Scientific and Industrial Research, in co-operation with the Waite Institute, undertook to investigate the cause of the Tomato Wilt disease. The Council erected an insect-proof glasshouse at a cost of £1,600 for the purpose of this investigation.

In 1927 the Empire Marketing Board, in co-operation with the Council for Scientific and Industrial Research and the University of Adelaide, jointly agreed to provide funds for the investigation of the mineral deficiencies of pastures in Australia. The Empire Marketing Board agreed to contribute a grant of £3,000 towards a laboratory and a sum of £1,875 per annum for a period of five years for this co-operative investigation. The Council for Scientific and Industrial Research contributed £3,000 towards a laboratory for the investigation of the mineral content of pastures and the soil problems associated with the Murray River settlements, and a sum of £937 per annum for five years towards the maintenance costs of the former investigation.

Through the generosity of Sir John Melrose, of Ulooloo, who in 1927 donated £10,000 towards the building of a laboratory, the University was able to construct the first group of permanent laboratories for the Institute. The building was formally declared open by His Excellency the Governor, Sir Alexander Hore-Ruthven, V.C., on 22nd April, 1929. Mr. J. T. Mortlock contributed a sum of £2,000 to the University for the equipment of the laboratories.

A field station was established at the Waite Institute in 1927 by the Council for Scientific and Industrial Research for the investigation of problems relating to Animal Nutrition; associated with it is a series of sixty pens for feeding sheep, and a metabolimeter room.

In December, 1927, the Parliament of South Australia passed the Agricultural Education Act, which provides for an annual appropriation for ten years to the University for the development of agricultural research at the Waite Institute. Under the terms of the Act the University has agreed to maintain a school of agricultural science of degree standard, and to provide for advisory services to the Department of Agriculture in plant pathology and entomology. The Act provides for an appropriation of £5,000 for the year ending 30th June, 1927, and the amount of the annual appropriation gradually increases to £15,000 in 1937.

In 1928 the Imperial Chemical Industries Limited agreed to provide a sum of £2,000, spread over a period of three years, for the investigation of the effect of nitrogenous fertilizers; in 1931 and 1932 it made further contributions of £666 13s. 4d. and £300 respectively, and since then £500 a year for the same purpose.

Early in 1928 the Government of South Australia, through the Education Department, granted the Waite Institute the use of 115 acres of arable land, given by Mr. Peter Waite to the State for the establishment of an Agricultural High School. This area adjoins the Urrbrae Estate, and has been fenced, subdivided, and developed for the purpose of conducting field investigations on farm crops, on natural and sown pastures, and for the carrying out of grazing investigations.

During 1929 the Commonwealth Bank of Australia agreed to provide a sum of £2,500, conditionally upon the University providing a similar sum, towards the cost of a group of buildings comprising an insectary for the investigation of insect pests of farm crops, a plant culture house for plant physiological and plant pathological investigations, and a laboratory to provide facilities for a range of four glasshouses. The buildings were completed in November, 1929, and were officially opened by R. B. McComas, Esq., a Director of the Commonwealth Bank of Australia, on 9th December, 1929.

In June, 1929, Mr. Harold Darling gave £10,000 to the University on behalf of the family of the late Mr. John Darling, for the building of a Soil Research Laboratory at the Waite Institute. The Council for Scientific and Industrial Research has agreed to provide the equipment and the maintenance of this laboratory, and, jointly with the University of Adelaide, to establish a Division of Soil Research with its headquarters at the Waite Institute.

In 1934 the Carnegie Trust agreed to contribute, over a period of two years, £2,650 to assist in the continuation of the mineral deficiencies investigations which had been carried out until June in co-operation with the Empire Marketing Board and the Council for Scientific and Industrial Research.

The John Darling Laboratory was opened by His Excellency the Governor-General (Lord Stonehaven) on September 16, 1930.

Under the will of Mrs. Elizabeth Macmeikan, widow, and daughter of the late Mr. Peter Waite, who died on April 5, 1931, her residuary estate, after payment of certain bequests, was left in trust to the University of Adelaide. The net income in the residuary estate is to be paid to the University in perpetuity for establishing and maintaining the study of Agriculture, Botany, Zoology, Veterinary Science, Entomology, Horticulture and Forestry by the University, either in connection with the Waite Agricultural Research Institute or otherwise.

The first report of the Institute, covering the operations and investigations of the period 1925-1932, was published in 1934.

The scientific work at the Waite Institute comprises the following:—

(a) Agriculture and Plant Problems.—The investigation of the problems affecting the production of farm crops; the improvement of pastures; ecological and plant nutrition studies of pasture plants; the improvement of cereals and fodder plants by hybridization and selection; the investigation of problems of mineral metabolism and the relation of nutrition to plant growth.

(b) Agricultural Chemistry and Soil Research.—The survey and classification of Australian soil types; the investigation of fertility problems, particularly in the irrigation settlements; and the chemical study of the nutritive value of pastures, with special reference to mineral constituents.

RESIDENTIAL COLLEGES.

By the Acts of Parliament under which the Adelaide University was founded provision was made for affiliation to the University of residential colleges in which students could enjoy the advantages of residence, discipline, and tuition supplementary to that given by the staff of the University.

ST. MARK'S COLLEGE.

St. Mark's College, the first residential college in the Adelaide University, was founded by a committee formed at a public meeting held under the chairmanship of the Bishop of Adelaide on 29th May, 1922. The Committee obtained some £12,000 by public subscription, and purchased a valuable property, the residence of the late Sir John Downer, which is situated on Pennington Terrace, North Adelaide. They also secured two acres of land adjoining, thus providing room for the foundation of a College of 150 men. The College obtained affiliation in 1924, and opened for students in March, 1925. It was immediately found necessary to provide additional accommodation, and in 1925-6 and in 1926-7 a three-story building of thirty rooms was erected as the first portion of a main quadrangle on the vacant land. In 1929-30 the need for further rooms became evident. A house adjoining the College on Pennington Terrace was purchased. In 1934 the accommodation was again increased, and during that year fifty tutors and students resided in College.

The College is governed by a Council of nineteen members representing the Church of England, the Council of the University, the Governors of St. Peter's College, and the donors to the foundation funds. Although it is primarily under the management of the Church of England, the College is open freely to men of all religious denominations.

The St. Alban Scholarship.

The Masonic Lodge of St. Alban of South Australia having paid to the University the sum of £150 for the purpose of founding a Scholarship, to be called the St. Alban Scholarship, the University has agreed—

1. That the St. Alban Scholarship shall be awarded by the University to any matriculated student thereof who (being certified in the form hereinafter provided, or in some similar form, to be a son or daughter of a worthy past or actual member of the said Fraternity) shall be nominated by the said Lodge as a person to whom a St. Alban's Scholarship shall be awarded. Each student so nominated shall hold such Scholarship for such number of consecutive academical terms as the student must for the time being complete in order to obtain a degree in (as the case may require) Laws, Medicine, Arts, Science, Engineering, or Music: Provided, nevertheless, that the said Lodge may from time to time at the end of any academical year terminate the tenure of the Scholarship by the holder thereof for the time being, and substitute another matriculated student for such holder. Each student so substituted shall therefrom have all the advantages appertaining to such Scholarship.

As amended by Council, June, 1922.

2. Each scholar studying for a degree in Arts, Science, or Music shall during such time as he or she shall hold the Scholarship be exempt from the payment of all University fees, including the fees payable on taking the degree of Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, or Bachelor of Music. Each scholar studying for a degree in Laws, Medicine, or Engineering shall in each year, during which he or she shall hold the Scholarship, be credited by the University with the sum of £15 towards payment of his or her fees. Any student ceasing to hold the Scholarship shall not be exempt from payment of such fees or entitled to credit for such sum of £15 after the time at which he or she shall cease to hold such Scholarship.

3. Scholars shall be in all respects subject to the Statutes and Regulations for the time being of the University.

4. Save by permission of the Council of the University, no scholar shall be entitled to exemption from or to a reduction of University fees during more than the number of academical terms, reckoned consecutively, which such scholar must complete in order to obtain a degree in the course of study pursued by him or her, and the terms shall be computed from the day next preceding the commencement of the academic year in which he or she shall become a scholar.

5. Certificates in the respective forms hereinafter provided, or in some similar form, and purporting to be signed by the Master or Acting Master and by the Secretary or Acting Secretary for the time being of the St. Alban Lodge, and to be sealed with the seal thereof, shall respectively be accepted by the University as sufficient evidence of the truth of the statements contained therein respectively, and of the due signature and sealing thereof respectively.

6. In the event of the Lodge St. Alban being erased or dissolved or becoming extinct, and in the event of its warrant becoming extinct or being delivered up to the Grand Master for the time being of the said Fraternity in South Australia, or being cancelled or becoming extinct, the said Grand Master, or (failing him) the Pro-Grand Master, or (failing him) the Deputy-Grand Master, shall be entitled to exercise the aforesaid right of nominating persons (being sons or daughters of worthy members of the said Fraternity as aforesaid) to whom the St. Alban Scholarship shall be awarded by the University, of terminating the tenure of such Scholarship by any holder thereof for the time being, and of substituting another matriculated student of the University in the room of any scholar whose tenure of the Scholarship shall have been terminated by such Grand Master or by the St. Alban Lodge. And certificates similar in form to those hereinafter set forth, but adapted to the altered circumstances and purporting to be signed by the Grand Master for the time being of the said Fraternity in South Australia shall be accepted by the said University as sufficient evidence as well of the right of the person by whom any such certificate shall purport to be signed to sign it and to do the act mentioned therein, as of the fact that the alleged act has been duly done.

Government Bursaries and Studentships, tenable at the University.

(Regulations of the Education Department in regard to Scholarships, made in 1921.)

1. Bursaries.

21. Twelve Bursaries shall be offered annually for competition. Each Bursary allotted to the course in Medicine shall be tenable for six years; those in Dentistry for five years; those allotted for the Associateship Diploma Course at the School of Mines for Architecture, Mining, or Metallurgy shall be tenable for three years; all other Bursaries shall be tenable for four years.

22. To perpetuate the memory of the late Hon. Archibald Henry Peake, Premier of the State from June 5th, 1909, to June 3rd, 1910, from February 2nd, 1912, to March 3rd, 1915, and from July 14th, 1919, to April 14th, 1920; and Minister of Education from June 5th, 1909, to June 3rd, 1910, and from February 17th, 1912, to January 21st, 1915, the first of the said Bursaries awarded in each year shall be known as the "Archibald Henry Peake Bursary."

23. These Bursaries shall exempt the holders from all fees, other than fees for Supplementary Examinations, payable to the University of Adelaide in the courses for the degrees of B.A., B.E., B.Sc., LL.B., M.B., B.S., B.D.S., and Mus.Bac., and for the Diploma in Applied Science, and from all fees payable to the Roseworthy Agricultural College in the case of students taking the Agricultural Course in Science, and from all fees payable to the School of Mines in the course for the Associateship Diploma. Students holding Medical Bursaries shall also be exempt from all fees payable to the Adelaide Hospital and to the Queen's Home up to a maximum of £45. In addition, a maintenance allowance at the rate of £20 per annum shall be granted to each Bursar; and in the case of a Bursar with respect to whom the Minister is satisfied that he could not have the benefit of his Bursary if he resided with his parents or guardian during the tenure of his Bursary, the Minister may, if he sees fit, increase the rate of the maintenance allowance to £40 per annum in respect of such period of time as the Minister is satisfied that that condition exists.

24. These Bursaries shall be open for competition amongst candidates whose parents are domiciled in South Australia. Bursaries will be awarded only to those deemed by the Minister to be of sufficient merit.

25. The Bursaries shall be available for any course for which the Bursar is eligible, but not more than four Medical Bursaries shall be awarded in any one year.

26. The award of the Bursaries shall be decided upon the result of the Leaving Honours Examination of the University of Adelaide. Every candidate who has passed in at least four subjects of the examination shall be eligible for the award of a Bursary. The result shall be determined by adding together the marks obtained by the candidate in the subjects in which he has passed in the said examination. (Note.—Pure Mathematics counts as two subjects, vide the University regulations.)

27. The relative values of the subjects of the said Leaving Honours Examination shall be fixed from time to time by the Director.

28. Candidates must be under 19 years of age on the 31st day of December of the year in which they compete, and must not previously have attended any part of the undergraduate course of the University in those subjects in which they are competing for the Bursary. Applications from intending competitors must be received in the Education Office on or before the 31st day of October of the year in which they compete, and must be on the official form.

29. Subject as hereinafter provided, in the year following the examination, each successful candidate must enter the University as an undergraduate student in Arts, Engineering, Science, Law, Medicine, Dentistry, or Music, or the School of Mines as an Associateship Student. A candidate who enters as an undergraduate student in Science may take any one of the courses, including the special course in Agriculture given by the University in conjunction with the Roseworthy Agricultural College, and the courses for the University Diploma in Applied Science, and the Fellowship of the School of Mines. Except in the case of illness or other sufficient cause, each Bursar must, in order to retain the Bursary, attend all lectures and pass all examinations required in the selected course. Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, in any case in which it is considered desirable by the Minister, the candidate may postpone his entry to the University or the School of Mines (as the case may be) until such time, not being later than the first term of the second University or School of Mines (as the case may be) year immediately following the award, as the Minister determines.

30. Before being awarded a Bursary tenable at the University, a candidate must select the Faculty in which he proposes to study, and this must be a Faculty in which he has satisfied the conditions required for matriculation before the end of the year preceding that in which the tenure of the Bursary commences. Before being awarded a Bursary tenable at the School of Mines, a candidate must select the Department in which he proposes to study. No Bursary, having once been awarded for tenure in any Faculty or Department, shall be made available for any other Faculty or Department, save on special grounds approved by the Director.

31. Every Bursar on entering the University, and at the beginning of each subsequent year of the tenure of his Bursary, shall submit his proposed course of study for the year to the Dean of his Faculty for approval, and the exemption from payment of fees shall apply to such subjects only as are approved by the Dean. No Bursar shall take any subject that is not within the curriculum of his Faculty, save on special grounds approved by the Faculty.

32. Every Bursar on entering the School of Mines, and at the beginning of each subsequent year of the tenure of his Bursary, shall submit his proposed course of study for the year to the Chairman of the Associateship Committee for approval, and the exemption from payment of fees shall apply to such subjects only as are approved by the Chairman. No Bursar shall take any subject that is not within the curriculum of his Associateship, save on special grounds approved by the Associateship Committee.

33. Payments of Bursaries shall be made in instalments, one at the end of each of the three terms of each year of tenure. Each Bursar must present a certificate of diligence and proficiency in a form prescribed by the Director, and payment may be reduced, or withheld altogether, if such certificate is not satisfactory to the Minister.

34. No person may hold a Bursary in conjunction with any other entrance Bursary, entrance Exhibition, or entrance Scholarship awarded by the Minister and tenable at the University or School of Mines, except in such cases as are recommended by the Council of the University or the Council of the School of Mines and approved by the Minister, but a Bursary may be held in conjunction with the Hartley Studentship.

35. In the event of any Bursary lapsing or being forfeited within six months of the award, the money may be used either in providing an additional Bursary or in helping deserving students, as approved by the Minister.

2. Evening Studentships.

50. Studentships will be offered annually for competition by persons attending or proposing to attend evening lectures at the University or School of Mines with a view to graduating or securing a diploma. These Studentships shall, as a general rule, be awarded to candidates whose occupations or circumstances prevent them from attending the day lectures, but the Minister may award not more than one-fourth of the whole number of Studentships to candidates whose employers allow them time to attend day lectures during working hours.

51. The value of each Studentship shall not exceed £10 for a Science or Engineering student, or £7 for any other student, and shall in no case exceed the outlay necessary for lecture and examination fees, text-books, and material; and the total value of the Studentships granted in any one year shall not exceed £180.

52. Nine of such Studentships shall be offered to students studying or intending to study for a degree in Science or Engineering, and thirteen to students studying or intending to study for any other degree or for a diploma. Provided that if in any year the number of applicants of sufficient merit does not allow of these proportions being maintained, the same may be varied, or the full number of Studentships not awarded, at the discretion of the Minister.

53. Of the Studentships offered for Science or Engineering, three shall be offered to students entering upon their course, two to students who have completed one year of study, two to students who have completed two years of study, and two to students who have completed three years of study. In the competition for the other Studentships, five shall be offered to students entering upon their course, three to students who have completed one year of study, three to students who have completed two years of study, and two to students who have completed three years of study. Provided that if in any year the number of applicants of sufficient merit does not allow of these proportions being maintained, the Minister may vary the same at his discretion.

54. Candidates for the First-year Studentships must be between the ages of 16 and 25 years on the first day of January of the year of entry, and must have been resident in South Australia for at least one year immediately preceding that date. Candidates for the other studentships must comply with similar conditions, one year of age being added for each year of the course studied.

55. The subjects of examination for the First-year Studentships shall be fixed by the Minister. The examination shall be qualifying, not competitive, and the Studentships shall be awarded to such candidates as, in the opinion of the Minister, show the most promise, taking into consideration the previous opportunities and present circumstances of the candidates.

56. The subjects of examination for the Studentships to be awarded for each year other than the first shall be such as have been respectively studied by the candidates during the preceding year.

57. Such portions of the Studentships as are necessary to pay the fees and the cost of the prescribed text-books shall be paid at the beginning of each term. Students other than those entering on their course must produce a certificate from the Registrar of the University or the Principal of the School of Mines that they have diligently and regularly attended the prescribed lectures. The Minister may cancel the Studentship awarded to any student who has, without reasonable excuse, failed to attend such lectures.

58. Candidates for any of these Studentships, whether they have already held one of them or not, must apply to the Director of Education in writing before 28th February. Each candidate should state:—

1. His age, whether at work during the day, how employed, and what salary or wages he receives.
2. His qualifications in point of knowledge, viz.:—
   (a) If he has not previously held the Studentship, he shall give particulars of any public examinations he has passed.
   (b) If he has already held the Studentship, he shall state what work he has done and what examinations he has passed while holding it.

Candidates who have reached the standard of the Junior Public Examination of the University in English Literature, History, and Mathematics are qualified to hold Studentships.

59. If the whole sum of £180 is not awarded in any year to candidates qualified under Regulation VI, 50, any surplus may be used, at the discretion of the Minister, in assisting other deserving students.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

The Rhodes Scholarship.

GENERAL REGULATIONS.

A Rhodes Scholarship is tenable at the University of Oxford and is held normally for three years—subject to the continued approval of the College at Oxford of which the Scholar may be a member, and of the Rhodes Trustees. Since, however, the majority of Rhodes Scholars obtain "standing" which makes it possible for them to take a degree in two years, appointments are made for two years in the first instance, and a Rhodes Scholar who may wish to hold his Scholarship for a third year will be expected to present a definite plan of study for that period satisfactory to his College and to the Rhodes Trustees.

Since 1930, Rhodes Scholars have been allowed, under conditions approved by their College and by the Rhodes Trustees either to postpone the third year of their Oxford course, or to spend that year forthwith in post-graduate work at any University in Great Britain, or in special cases in other parts of the world (excluding the country of their origin).

The value of a Rhodes Scholarship is £400 a year. At most colleges, and for most men, this sum is not sufficient to meet a Rhodes Scholar's necessary expenses for Term-time and Vacations, and Scholars who can afford to supplement it by say £50 a year from their own resources will find it advantageous to do so. The cost of the voyage to and from England must be borne by the Scholar.

METHOD OF APPLICATION:

Each candidate for a Scholarship is required to make application to the Secretary of the Committee of Selection of the State in which he wishes to compete not later than 20th October, using the prescribed application form, and furnishing the material there specified.

Detailed information and forms of application may be obtained from the Secretary to the Rhodes Scholarship Selection Committee for South Australia, The University, Adelaide.

Mining and Metallurgical Bursaries and Scholarships.

The principal Australian base-metal mining companies have created a trust for the award of Bursaries and Scholarships on the following terms:—

Students who are British subjects and have completed or received credit for the first two years of the course for the degree of Bachelor of Engineering in the Department of Mining or of Metallurgy may apply, on or before 1st December, for a Bursary in Mining or in Metallurgy respectively. Students taking Geology as a major subject in the course for the degree of Bachelor of Science may apply for the Bursary in Mining. The Selection Committee will base its awards on considerations of personality and scholarship, and candidates should submit evidence under both these heads. Provided that candidates are of sufficient merit, two Bursaries will be awarded in each year, one in Mining and one in Metallurgy. Each Bursary will be worth £30 per annum for the remaining two years of the course, the payment for the fourth year of the course being contingent on the bursar's having sufficiently distinguished himself in his third year.

Colonial Office Appointments.

Arrangements have been made with the Australian Universities to facilitate the appointment of graduates or others in the Colonial Service. These appointments are made by the Private Secretary (Appointments), Colonial Office, London, under the Secretary of State. The Central Committee of the Australian Universities may forward recommendations.

The services of main interest are the Administrative Services of East and West Africa; Medical Services; appointments in Agricultural departments, Education, and Police; Survey, Geological, and Financial departments.

The countries administered by the Colonial Services include the East and West African Colonies and Protectorates, Hongkong, Malaya, Ceylon, Fiji and the West Pacific, Mauritius, the West Indies, etc., mainly within the tropics.

Apart from academic and technical attainments, the greatest importance is attached to character and personality. The qualifications necessary for recommendation may be considered as similar to those of an applicant for the Rhodes Scholarship in this State.

Further particulars may be obtained from Dr. Madigan, Liaison Officer, The University, Adelaide.

Dental Scholarship.

A scholarship which is tenable for one year at the Dental School of the Northwestern University, Chicago, is available annually for nominees of the University of Adelaide.

The scholarship covers the fees for tuition, and in addition all necessary equipment and instruments are provided.

Dental graduates of the University of Adelaide are eligible for this scholarship, and nominations will be made by the University Council on the recommendation of the Faculty of Dentistry.

Applications should reach the Registrar not later than 31st March in any year.

Award.

1934 Tidemann, Ernest Phillips, B.D.S.

British Passenger Lines' Free Passage Scheme for University Graduates.

The Australian and New Zealand Passenger Conference grants three first-class return passages to London annually to students wishing to continue postgraduate study abroad. The passages are available during the months from June to November. Further particulars and a list of rules with which applicants must be prepared to comply will be supplied on application to the Registrar.

Students' Loan Fund.

On the suggestion of Dr. Leon Jona, who contributed £100, the Council has established a loan fund for the benefit of students in temporary financial difficulty. The fund is administered by a Board consisting of the Vice-Chancellor, the Chairman of the Finance Committee, and the Registrar. Applications should be made through a professor.

The Registrar furnishes a report annually to the Council in November, and the report does not include the name of any applicant.

SOCIETIES ASSOCIATED WITH THE UNIVERSITY.

The Graduates' Association of the University of Adelaide

(Amalgamated with the Adelaide University Union.)

The Association was founded in 1920 for the general purpose of promoting the spirit of corporate unity among the members of the University. Its more specific objects, as set forth in its constitution, are the following:—

(a) To use its influence with the public and with the Government to procure such increase of the financial and other resources of the University as may be necessary for its fullest and most efficient development;

(b) To secure publicity of the needs and the achievements of the University, and to promote recognition by the State of the services of the University;

(c) To suggest new and desirable fields of University activity;

(d) To act in aid of the Council of the University in matters affecting the physical, moral, and social welfare of the students;

(e) To use its influence to promote the social aspects of University life among the faculty, students, and graduates, and to promote such other advances and reforms as may appear advisable in their interests;

(f) To advocate such measures as may appear advisable to provide residential accommodation for the students;

(g) To assist graduates to obtain useful and profitable employment to the end that the services of the University may find their full expression in the practical life of the community;

(h) Generally to do all things incidental to or which may have the effect of furthering the above objects.

Membership is open to all graduates of this University or of any University recognized by the University and to all holders of a diploma or of a final certificate upon payment of the annual subscription of ten shillings and sixpence, or the life subscription of £9. Subscriptions should be paid to the Secretary of the Adelaide University Union (Mr. K. T. Hamilton, Union Office, The University).

The Graduates' Association is now amalgamated with the Adelaide University Union, the constitution and objects of which are outlined below. Under the amalgamation graduate members have the right to use the Union Buildings, including the Refectory and Cafeteria, and possess other privileges.

The Graduates' Committee, consisting of a Chairman, Hon. Secretary, and eighteen graduates, is elected annually to control affairs relating especially to graduate members of the Union.

Meetings of graduate members, lectures, and so forth are held from time to time.

Officers of the Graduates' Committee—

Chairman—S. H. Skipper, LL.B.

Hon. Secretary—G. R. Fuller, B.Sc.

Executive—The Chairman, the Hon. Secretary, and Professor H. J. Wilkinson.

Adelaide University Union.

The objects of the Adelaide University Union are:—

(a) To provide a common meeting ground and social centre for students and members of the University;

(b) To promote the intellectual culture of its members;

(c) To represent its members on matters affecting their interests, and to afford a recognized means of communication between its members and the University authorities;

(d) Generally to secure the co-operation of University men and women in furthering the interests of the University.

The Lady Symon Building is the gift of the Honourable Sir Josiah Symon, K.C.M.G., K.C., who gave to the University the sum of £10,000 for the building of a Women's Union, as part of the University Union for men and women, and towards equipping the Women Students' Library therein with books. Sir Josiah's purpose was to secure a common meeting ground and a social as well as an academic centre for women members of the University; to encourage the intellectual development of its members by discussions and debates, or otherwise provide community and exchange of thought and foster the growth of a corporate spirit among University women; and also to mark his own happy personal association with the early work of the University as a member of its Council and its active Committees for eight years more than thirty years ago.

The other Union Buildings include a men's reading room, the Union office, and the Refectory, where lunch and morning and afternoon tea may be obtained by members of the Union. The funds for the erection of these buildings were donated by the Council and Staff of the University and leading citizens. The Cloisters connected with the buildings are intended as a University War Memorial, and memorial tablets are to be erected there in due course.

The affairs of the Union are managed by the Union Committee.

The Graduates' Committee, the functions and responsibilities of which are more fully stated above, controls affairs relating specially to graduates.

The Women's Union Committee controls the Lady Symon Building and affairs relating to women students.

REGULATIONS.

SCHOLARSHIPS.

1. Two scholarships, tenable for three years, one in the theory and the other in the practice of music, shall be offered annually at the examinations of the Australian Music Examinations Board held in South Australia.

The scholarship in theory of music shall exempt the holder from payment during the tenure thereof of all fees for lectures and examinations in the course for the degree of Bachelor of Music.

The scholarship in practice of music, of the total value of £50, shall, subject to the conditions in these regulations, be paid in equal instalments at the beginning of each year of tenure. The scholar must devote the proceeds of the scholarship to his further education in the practice of music, and he may receive instruction from any teacher or in any institution approved by the Council. The first payment shall be made on the production of a certificate from a teacher of music or an institution, previously approved by the Council, that the scholar has duly enrolled for instruction.

2. Candidates who at either the May or September examinations obtain honours or credit in Grade I or Grade II in theory, and have also passed an examination in practice of music of the standard of Grade III at least, shall be eligible to compete for the scholarship tenable in the course for the degree of Bachelor of Music, and candidates who obtain honours or credit in Grade I or Grade II in the practice of music, and have also passed an examination in theory of music of the standard of Grade III at least, shall be eligible to compete for that awarded for the practice of music. The scholarships shall be awarded to the candidates showing the greatest musical promise at a special examination to be held in November each year. Candidates who are eligible must enter for the special examination on the prescribed form on or before 1st November, and sign an undertaking that they will accept the scholarship and conform to the conditions prescribed if elected. The fee for the special examination shall be 10s. 6d.

3. No candidate shall be eligible to compete for either of these scholarships who holds, or has held, a scholarship or prize tenable for three years for the same subject at the Elder Conservatorium, or who has passed the first year of the course either for the Diploma in Music or for the degree of Bachelor of Music.

No person shall hold more than one of these scholarships at the same time, and a scholarship shall not be awarded a second time to the same candidate for the same subject.

4. The limits of age for candidates shall be as follows:

5. In the event of only one candidate being eligible to compete for either scholarship, the Council may, on the recommendation of the examiners, dispense with the special examination.

6. Every holder of a scholarship tenable for the degree of Bachelor of Music, shall, each year, present himself for the appropriate examination, and every holder of a scholarship tenable for the practice of music shall, at the end of the first and second years of its tenure, present a satisfactory certificate of progress and regularity of attendance from his teacher. Furthermore, he shall, if required, give practical proof of such progress. Failure to pass any such examination or test, or to present such certificate, shall forthwith determine the tenure of the scholarship, unless the Council shall otherwise decide.

7. A scholarship may also be summarily determined at any time if, in the opinion of the Council, the holder of it be guilty of misconduct.

11. The exhibition will be given on the condition that the holder pursues an approved course of study in the theory or the practice of music during the year immediately following the award.

12. The exhibition will be paid in two instalments, the first at the time of the award, and the second after an interval of six months, provided always that the exhibitioner gives proof to the Board that satisfactory progress has been made during the preceding period.

STANDING ORDERS OF SENATE

COMMEMORATION ADDRESS.

The Annual Commemoration was held on Wednesday, 11th December, 1935.

The Vice-Chancellor, in opening the proceedings, said:—

Your Excellency, Lady Dugan, Mr. Warden and Members of the Senate, Ladies and Gentlemen,

Since he became Chancellor twenty years ago Sir George Murray has only once before been absent from this annual Commemoration. The addresses with which he has opened the proceedings every year will, when collected, form the chronicle of the University; and I shall try in his manner to record the main events of the past year, and maintain the continuity.

There has been no change in the Council throughout the year, but the health of Sir Walter Young has interrupted his old activity as Chairman of the Finance Committee. Only those who come here every day have known of the time and the forethought which he has given to our affairs during these past ten years as Chairman. And, though every one can see the development of the grounds and buildings both here and at the Waite Institute, few know that the greater part came from his personal influence. Sir William Goodman, following Mr. Isbister, has been acting in his place, and has now consented to be Chairman, Sir Walter remaining a member of the Committee.

The sudden death of Professor Shann at the end of May still seems as if it had happened yesterday. During the term he had received several warnings that he was overworking, but we only knew of them later from his correspondence, and were deceived by his cheerful and ardent disposition. In his Economic History of Australia he has left a permanent gift to students, but he thought that his best work for them was still to come. I shall not recall any of the appreciations that you are likely to have read, but I shall quote from one in the current number of The Economic Journal which you will not have seen. It is by Professor Copland: "He found himself heavily engaged in helping to guide his country through the disaster which he had all too clearly foretold. He played a prominent part in moulding banking policy, and in developing what afterwards came to be known as the Premiers' Plan. It was only the Premiers' Plan because it had to be adopted by Premiers. The plan was, in fact, a composite product of the Australian economists, and Shann's part in its enunciation was all-important. He greatly assisted in bringing the economists together, and in giving them a focal point through which they could influence banking and financial policy . . . As the depression deepened, his belief in monetary policy as a way of escape increased. He carried this belief to Ottawa in 1932 and to the World Economic Conference in 1933. In both places he worked untiringly to bring about a declaration of policy by the British Commonwealth of Nations . . . In Adelaide this year he was working out in the light of his experiences a fresh approach to the teaching of Economics. It was the sort of thing he liked, and its final statement would have been of great value to us all in Australia. On the afternoon of 23rd May I received a letter from him expressing in his gayest manner his desire to co-operate in producing a new book of documents on Australian policy. Some of this new approach would have been reflected in that book. The same evening I was informed of the accident that befell him." Fortunately we had at hand in Mr. La Nauze a man able to take charge of the work with the assistance of Professor Portus and of men from outside, including the Auditor-General, to all of whom our thanks are due.

I have also to record the deaths of men whose presence in the University has long been familiar. Dr. Lendon's connection began with the founding of the medical school fifty years ago, and was maintained in one capacity or another till he was laid aside. Then he set himself to write the history of the school, and to trace the history of all who had passed through. He finished it just before his death. It is a remarkable memorial to his unsparing thoroughness; and, to commemorate the jubilee, the Council has sent a copy to every graduate in medicine.

Dr. Pulleine's genial presence will be missed in the biological laboratories, which he assisted with apparatus and in other practical ways, as well as by his quite unique knowledge in chosen by-paths of zoology and botany. He was one of the active founders of our Board of Anthropology, whose fieldwork in the study of primitive peoples and their cultures has removed in one direction the reproach that we study nothing that does not pay.

I must also express the regret of us all at the passing of Samuel Goudie, who for the past twenty-one years was the ever-willing and efficient head of the cleaning and policing division under the control of the Registrar.

Turning from those gloomy days of the year I shall not recall the brightest, the celebrations of the jubilee of the medical school. They are so recent, and they have been given a special record. I take this opportunity of thanking Professor Watson's old students, through Sir Henry Newland, for the beautiful and characteristic portrait of him which they have presented to the University, and for a surplus of £175 to establish a prize in his honour. The celebrations had their proper close when the Dean, Dr. de Crespigny, intimated the three gifts of £5,000 each which he had been instrumental in securing towards the erection of new laboratories in the grounds of the Adelaide Hospital across the road from the University. The donors are of names already prominent in the roll of our benefactors: Miss Edith Bonython, Mr. Norman Darling, and Mr. Barr Smith. The Government has welcomed and will complete the project. The laboratories are the one thing wanting, in Lord Horder's opinion, when he spoke of "this paradise of hospital service and university culture." And, in case you think that these two things are not one, I repeat the principle which he gave as the motto to be inscribed on the threshold: "The patients, always the patients."

This development would not have been possible but for the Keith Sheridan Bequest for Medical Research. Out of it grants have been made for a variety of investigations during the past twelve years, but it has been decided to concentrate, and spend the income on the work done at the Hospital Laboratory for the patients there and throughout the State. It is a decision that does not at once commend itself. When Dr. Bull left the Laboratory two years ago, and the Government advertised for a man to carry on his work in bacteriology, it was found that the salary advertised brought no candidate half as competent as he is. On the advice of our Sheridan Committee the Council offered to add £300 a year for five years, and the Government invited Sir Charles Martin, now at Cambridge, and Dr. Bull, then in England, to select a candidate. They selected Dr. Platt, who arrived early this year, and has been fully occupied to the thorough satisfaction of every one, and I hope soon also to his own satisfaction. A corresponding situation presented itself a few months ago when the directorship of the Laboratory became vacant. Again on the advice of the Sheridan Committee the University advised the Government that the office should carry a much larger salary, and offered to contribute £750 for five years from the Bequest if the Government fixed it at £1,500. The Government has agreed. That ought to be the salary of all professors, which remains here what it was when the University began sixty years ago, though the average salary in Britain for professors is twice what it was then, and for lecturers three times.

Another bequest for medical research has now become partly available, that made by the late Edward Neale. His will asked us to give preference to work on cancer, and, on the recommendation of the Cancer Committee, it has been decided that for the first five years, the income of not less than £500 a year will be devoted to the work being done on cancer at the Hospital. This Committee, which represents the subscribers to the Anti-Cancer Campaign Fund, was in the care of Dr. Lendon as chairman and director of the clinic. He has been succeeded as chairman by Mr. Robert Melrose, and as director by Dr. Hone.

The Council welcomes the obligations that are placed on it by all such bequests, because a University that is merely concerned with students is performing only half its function, and is well-known to do that badly if it only teaches and does not create. But, while proud and grateful for these obligations, the Council would very much like to have money for its more immediate purposes, and it would like to restore the tenth by which it has reduced all salaries during the past five years, owing to the loss of £6,000 a year from the Government Grant, and of nearly £4,000 a year from the fall of interest on Government stocks, where all our property is invested. Perhaps next year, when the centenary of the State and the diamond jubilee of the University are in conjunction, Parliament will be pleased to restore the situation accepted in 1920, when the Council put before it the conditions on which we could provide men capable of filling all the professions of the State, men as competent as if they were produced say in Melbourne or Sydney. Unless that standard is maintained the University is doing a permanent injury to the people of the State. In the years following this agreement we were able to establish the fundamental sciences. They are the essential part of our equipment, and the most costly, because they need the best men. If they need the best men to invent or discover them, they also need the next best men to follow and apply them. Our great field is the application of fundamentals to the matters at our doors, whether in civil or other engineering, or chemistry, or agriculture, or the Hospital. We are glad to see the creation of one more professional institute, the Institute of Agricultural Science, and we welcome every way in which these institutes join the University. Last month the Institute of Engineers completed an arrangement whereby its library is to be housed and maintained as part of the Barr Smith Library, the whole being open to all.

Further gifts during the year to the work of the University have been gratefully acknowledged, and will be recorded in the Calendar. They include another donation of £500 to the Waite Institute from Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd., and gifts to the Elder Conservatorium through Mrs. Brailsford Robertson, from Mrs. Alderman, and from the Carnegie Corporation of New York. We have also to thank that Corporation for two gifts that will not be on the record, one to Professor McKellar Stewart, the other to the Librarian (Mr. Cowan). The grants were to enable them to travel in order to examine the corresponding practical work to theirs in America and Britain. Professor Stewart has for years been Chairman of the Public Examinations Board and of the Board controlling the classes of the Workers' Educational Association. Both of those bodies and their functions ought to benefit from his message. Throughout the year Dr. Garnett has been a most efficient substitute for Professor Stewart in the lectures of the chair. Mr. Cowan's investigations in American libraries cannot but be of value to our own one, but the main purpose is to promote the ideal of the Corporation; he is studying the means that are taken to secure and manage the reading of good books by as many people as possible. Once again we have to thank Professor FitzHerbert for assuming control as Honorary Librarian. Mr. Crampton is also away on his first vacation since he became Lecturer in French eighteen years ago. Professor Prescott and Professor Hicks have returned after visiting laboratories in European countries, and examining the advancing work in the provinces of which they have charge. The country, as well as the University, has reason to be grateful to them. Next year no one has found himself able to take leave of absence except Dr. Mead for a period. He goes with the gratitude and affection of the succession of students for fifteen years whose way he has been smoothing through the secrets of anatomy.

Of new arrivals, besides Dr. Platt, we have Mr. Arved Kurtz, who has realised in every way the great expectations that were here before him. Mr. Harold Parsons has returned from a flying visit, and Miss Hilda Gill from a long period of study which will be at the service of the Conservatorium. She is to take up the work of Mr. Bevan, who retires to be an onlooker, after 38 years, with the warm regard and appreciation of us all.

The latest arrival is Professor Innes Stewart, who succeeds Sir Archibald Strong as Jury Professor of English Literature. If he doubts whether his elders may look coldly on his youth, he will find envy instead, for we have had professors before who were not yet thirty, and the two of most eminence in the history of the University arrived when they were twenty-three.

Finally, I have to recall some of the distinctions conferred during the year: the imperial honours to two members of the Council, Dr. Helen Mayo and Mr. Adey, and to a distinguished student in medicine, Sir Raphael Cilento. Sir Douglas Mawson and Professor Harvey Johnston have received the King's Polar Medal, the Australian National Research Council has awarded the Lyle Medal to Professor Wilton, and the Royal Society of South Australia has awarded the Verco Medal to Professor Harvey Johnston. Two of the lecturers, Mr. Burdon in Physics and Mr. Winzor in Chemistry, are about to receive the degree of Doctor of Science for their researches. Of distinctions to graduates abroad it is not easy to keep tale; but Dr. Bald has gone from being Lecturer at Exeter to be Professor of English at Stellenbosch, and the Rhodes Scholar of 1922, Howard Florey, who has been for several years Professor of Pathology at Sheffield, has been elected to the Chair at Oxford.

The researches and writings from the University during the year are recorded in the Calendar, but I should like to mention the work on native languages that is going on. I should also mention a writing by Frank Williams, the Rhodes Scholar of 1915, who, after his adventures in the war, decided to desert Greek and Latin and qualify himself at Oxford for work in some outpost of the Empire. He is Government Anthropologist at Papua, and a very practical one. His reports are as human as they are thorough. This year he published The Blending of Cultures: An Essay on the Aims of Native Education, and it has been awarded the Wellcome Medal of the Royal Anthropological Society. Other publications are announced, and one came out yesterday by H. H. Finlayson, a demonstrator in the Chemistry School, who is the expert on Australian mammals. It is called The Red Centre, and gives his travels and findings in the heart of Australia during the long vacations of the past five years. Professor Wood Jones says in his preface to it: "Every word that Finlayson tells is of the real thing, the Centre that he knows with familiarity, the animals of which he has practically a monopoly of knowledge, the natives, and that strange and indefinable attraction that the Dead Heart always has for those who have known the heat of its days, and the cold of its nights, and the stars." If you turn over its pages, I think you will have found the book which your friends will read at Christmas. The work that is being done on the native languages and oral literatures will not begin to be published for several years. Professor Fitz-Herbert is developing in this direction the division of his chair called Comparative Philology. You will see what a native dictionary is like if you look into his room, but the expert labour is in analysing the material in order to lay bare the remarkable order or grammar throughout its complexity. He has been assisted by the lifelong experience of Dr. Chewings, and by the vocabularies provided by Mrs. Daisy Bates. Our two graduates in the field, Love and Strehlow, are unusually competent men from their knowledge of other languages, and from their intimate life with the natives and regard for them. They are living and working in entirely different parts of the country, and on different languages. The whole project will bring high honour to the University, though it is costing us nothing.

This chair of philology was one of the four with which the University began. There was no thought of the professions nor of the means of making a living. As Your Excellency's predecessor of those days said at the opening: The State has resolved that a fraction of the material wealth produced each year shall go to mental wealth or culture. Parliament did not specify the culture but it did the fraction. Besides grants of land in country and here in town, it offered five per cent. per annum on all endowments up to a limit of £10,000 a year. Every one believed that the full offer would soon be earned. But there is one thing that rulers never happen to foresee: it is apathy. The limit was not earned before 47 years had gone, not till 1923. In that year we went to Parliament and asked that the limit of the offer be extended to £20,000; and this it did unanimously, though it had put £20,000 on the annual estimates only three years before. Of the new offer half was earned at once on the Waite Bequest, and the other half very soon, having brought the large bequests for medicine, law, and chemistry. The new limit was reached in 1929. But the endowments were still to the professions and material wealth. And so again the first purpose was left standing. And 1929 was the year when everything in the country was brought to a stand. We did not go to Parliament as in 1923, but proceeded to mark time like every one else, not, I hope, quite inactively. Now, entering on our new jubilee, we may well expect the limit to be extended, and culture may hope again.

The apathy from which it has suffered has been due in great part to the name of culture and the popular notion. It means mental culture, but that can be quite superficial, something for wearing, a decoration, a thing prized because it is rare, the pride of a few. Much that is called culture, like much that is called science, is good enough, but of no account. But also much can be fundamental, though it is only for a few, and though it looks trivial and merely difficult, like a native language or the theory of numbers. These can look trifling compared with the study of man and his mind. But it is a poor study of man that is not a study of the universe. Language is far the greatest of all human inventions; it is also the foundation of science, for mathematics is nothing but a language.

The parts of good culture that can be only for the few are merely its branches; the stem is for all, and even the roots. The whole story of civilisation, and the literature that man has written, constitute the stem. But the roots are deeper. They reach the foundations of the world, and the ordering of its values. For there is no good and bad in the world except for minds. The students of the University offer excellent material for turning towards the foundations. They have learnt a clear view of one province of the world, and they have learnt one thing about the things that are worth while: Omnia praeclara tam difficilia quam rara sunt: All things that are excellent are as hard as they are rare. When I asked Dr. Ray, through whom we owe the Sheridan grant for medical research, whether he agreed with the other members that its income should be spent at the hospital, he said: "Undoubtedly; the hospital is full of the best material, and it is running to waste." Can the same be said about the mental patients of the University? I think their physicians, who are the professors, would say so. But the roots of culture, the foundations of the world, are really for everybody. When our present ceremony is over, you might look into the Bonython Hall, now nearly ready, and, standing there, ask for what it is to be used. You will feel, I think, that it is asking to be filled of a Sunday afternoon, say once a month, with people willing to hear a discourse on some character of the world and themselves that is really eternal.

ANNUAL REPORT FOR THE YEAR 1935.

To His Excellency Major-General Sir Winston Joseph Dugan, K.C.M.G., C.B., D.S.O., Governor in and over the State of South Australia.

The Council of the University of Adelaide has the honour to present to your Excellency the following report for the year 1935:—

I. The Council and the Senate.

The following members of the Council retired in November in accordance with the provisions of the University Act:—Mr. W. R. Bayly, the Honourable Sir John Langdon Bonython, K.C.M.G., Dr. Helen Mayo, O.B.E., the Honourable Mr. Justice Angas Parsons, and Dr. A. G. Price, C.M.G. They were all re-elected by the Senate at its meeting on 27th November.

The Senate has re-elected the Honourable Mr. Justice Angas Parsons its Warden, and Mr. F. W. Eardley its Clerk.

The Chancellor, the Honourable Sir George Murray, left for Europe in April, and will return in January. In May the Vice-Chancellor, Sir William Mitchell, returned from England. During his absence the Vice-Chancellor's duties were carried out by Professor R. W. Chapman.

The Council has received with great regret Sir Walter Young's resignation of the Chairmanship of the Finance Committee, which he has held for ten years. He has directed the financial affairs of the University through a critical period of its growth; and the Council is specially grateful for his assistance in the development of the Waite Agricultural Research Institute. His help will still be available, as he has consented to remain a member of the Committee. First Mr. Isbister, and then Sir William Goodman has acted in his place, and Sir William Goodman now continues as Chairman of the Committee.

The Council records with pleasure that His Majesty the King has graciously conferred the honour of Companionship of the Order of St. Michael and St. George on Mr. W. J. Adey, and the Order of the British Empire (Civil Division) on Dr. Helen Mayo, who have been members of the Council since 1929 and 1914 respectively.

II. Obituary.

The Vice-Chancellor in the Commemoration Address referred at length to the heavy losses by death during the year.

The death of Professor Shann occurred in May, at the end of the first term. Although he had occupied the Chair of Economics for only a few months, he will be long remembered by his colleagues and students. The loss of the University is shared by the whole Commonwealth.

Dr. A. A. Lendon died on the 29th June after a long illness. He was a member of the Council from the years 1891 to 1899 and Dean of the Faculty of Medicine for six years. He had been lecturer in Forensic Medicine, in Obstetrics, in Diseases of Children, and in Clinical Surgery, and had held lecturing appointments continuously over a period of 38 years. On his retirement in 1923 he was appointed lecturer honoris causa in Obstetrics, and later became Chairman of the Anti-Cancer Committee.

Dr. R. H. Pulleine died in June. Early in the year he resigned the lectureship in Otology, which he had held since 1920. He was a specialist in diseases of the ear, eye, nose, and throat, and a leader in the study of anthropology and of special groups in botany and zoology.

Mr. Samuel Goudie, who was appointed head janitor in 1914, died in March.

The Council has placed a tablet in the Elder Conservatorium to record the long and faithful work of the late Emmanuel Gotthold Reimann.

III. Staff.

In October Professor Innes Stewart took up the duties of the Jury Chair of English Language and Literature in succession to the late Sir Archibald Strong. During the vacancy of the chair the work of the department was directed with much ability by Mr. A. E. M. Kirwood.

Professor J. McKellar Stewart received a travelling grant from the Trustees of the Carnegie Corporation of New York to enable him to inquire into educational matters in England and America. He has been absent on leave since February carrying out the purposes of the grant.

The Librarian, Mr. W. A. Cowan, was granted twelve months' leave of absence to enable him to accept a similar travelling grant from the Trustees of the Carnegie Corporation. He is studying library management in America, and later will visit some of the more important libraries in England and on the Continent.

Mr. Frederick Bevan, teacher of Singing in the Elder Conservatorium since 1898, resigned his appointment on account of failing health. His work will be taken over by Miss Hilda Gill, who returned after a period of two years' study in Europe. Mr. Arved Kurtz was appointed teacher of the violin in succession to Mr. Peter Bornstein, and began his duties in April. Mr. Harold Parsons resumed his work in May after six months' absence in London.

Leave of absence during the year was granted to Mr. L. C. E. Lindon, Dr. Guy Lendon, Mr. Gilbert Brown, and Dr. R. F. Matters.

IV. Medical Jubilee.

The celebrations of the Jubilee of the Medical School were divided into two parts. The first part, on the 30th and 31st August, took the form of an Exhibition designed to illustrate the progress in medicine and surgery during the last fifty years. The exhibits aroused great public interest, and were inspected by several thousand visitors during the four sessions on which it was open. The second part of the Celebrations was held on Wednesday, the 18th September. In the afternoon there was a Special Congregation at which the ad eundem degree of M.D. was conferred on Lord Horder and Sir Thomas Dunhill. The addresses of the Vice-Chancellor and Lord Horder are printed as an addendum to this report. In the evening a dinner in the Refectory was attended by nearly 200 guests, including distinguished visitors, members of the Council of the University, the professors, and members of the medical profession. The Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, Dr. C. T. Ch.-de Crespigny, announced that promises of gifts of £5,000 each had been received from Miss Edith Bonython, Mr. Norman Darling, and Mr. T. E. Barr Smith towards the erection of a building for clinical teaching and research at the Adelaide Hospital. Mr. A. M. Cudmore presented to the University a portrait of Professor Watson by W. B. McInnes, which had been provided out of funds collected by Sir Henry Newland from the Professor's old students, who have also subscribed a sum sufficient to found a Prize bearing his name.

In connection with the Jubilee a short history of the Medical School has been published. The material was collected by the late Dr. A. A. Lendon and edited by Mr. F. S. Hone and Mr. William Ray.

V. Endowments and Gifts.

The solicitors of the estate of the late Edward Neale have notified that the income of the estate, after providing for certain annuities, is now available for the purposes of the bequest. To give effect to the wish of the testator the Council has decided to allocate, for a period of five years, the income, which will exceed £500 per annum, to research into the cause and cure of cancer.

A most welcome visit was received from Dr. Frederick P. Keppel, President of the Carnegie Corporation of New York, which has made several grants and gifts to the work of the University.

Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd., made a further grant of £500 for the continuation of the investigations into nitrogenous fertilisers at the Waite Institute.

The valuable library of Australian historical works collected by the late David Murray was presented to the Barr Smith Library by Mr. J. M. Pittendrigh, the surviving executor of the estate.

Mrs. Brailsford Robertson has forwarded a further sum of £100 collected by her to augment the permanent fund of the South Australian Orchestra.

The Board of Governors of the Public Library, Museum, and Art Gallery of South Australia has presented to the Geological Department a fine plaster cast of a large Crioceratid Ammonite.

The Directors of Advertiser Newspapers Limited again contributed £25 towards the expenses of the Board for Anthropological Research.

The undermentioned gifts also were received:—

A portrait plaque of Madam Curie from the Thebarton Technical High School, books and material from Mrs. K. A. Hill, a collection of violin and chamber music from Mrs. R. G. Alderman, books and periodicals from the Australian Council of Educational Research, the Public Library of South Australia, the Engineer-in-Chief's Department, the Honourable Sir Langdon Bonython, Professor Wilton, Port of London Authority, Mr. T. Kornerup, Carnegie Institution, Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, Carnegie Corporation, Dr. Armis, Professor Chapman, Mr. P. A. Campbell, the late Professor Shann, the Premier of South Australia, Society for International Cultural Relations, Professor Portus, Mr. J. N. de Saram, Professor A. Watson, Mr. B. G. Theobald, Professor C. Velten, the Bank of New South Wales, Sydney, the Spanish National Board for Travel, the late Dr. A. A. Lendon, the Women Graduates' Association, Mrs. T. Brailsford Robertson, Mr. G. J. Dawbarn, the Commonwealth Parliamentary Library, the Eye, Ear, Nose, and Throat Section of the B.M.A. (S.A. Branch), the Commercial Banking Company of Sydney, le Ministere des Travaux Public, Buenos Aires, Dr. R. Glynn, the Czechoslovak Consul-General, Sydney, Dr. B. Adachi, Mrs. McGrigor Phillips, the Supreme Court Library, the Consul for Italy, Mr. J. B. Penniston, Mrs. A. Beck, Frau E. von Economo, Mrs. E. F. Dall, the Chase National Bank, N.Y., Professor Innes Stewart, Mr. M. L. Mitchell, Mr. F. D. Cheydleur, Dr. C. J. Hackett, the Central Board of Irrigation, India, Professor Prescott, the Commonwealth Department of Commerce, Mr. G. W. Halcombe, Mr. A. E. Taylor, Professor Johnston, the Central Board of Health, Adelaide, Professor Davies, Mr. G. Spiller. An anonymous donor has presented further volumes of the centenary edition of the letters of Sir Walter Scott. All these gifts have been suitably acknowledged.

VI. Waite Agricultural Research Institute.

Pasture investigations have been extended during the year to include the determination of the yield, composition and grazing value of seeded mixed pastures, the isolation of hardy strains of subterranean clover, Prairie grass and lucerne, and the value of selected pasture mixtures for regions of moderate to good rainfall. Strain investigations on perennial rye-grass have been advanced a stage further by the selection of persistent types for final tests. Further studies have been made of the effect of various combinations of phosphates and nitrogen on pasture mixtures, and of the effect of various forms of rotational grazing on the carrying capacity of irrigated pastures.

In co-operation with the Division of Plant Industry of the Council for Scientific and Industrial Research, investigations are in progress on the analysis of yield characteristics in wheat and their inheritance.

The effects of nitrogen and phosphorus supply on plant growth have been further investigated, and a study is being undertaken of the effect of these nutrients on the drifts in various physiological and chemical attributes of the plant during the growing period. Studies of the nitrogen metabolism of pasture grasses are also being continued. In co-operation with the Division of Plant Industry of the Council for Scientific and Industrial Research similar investigations have been commenced on the growth and nitrogen metabolism of the tobacco plant, with a view to providing fundamental knowledge which may serve as a basis for improving the quality of Australian-grown tobacco.

Apart from its close association with the soil survey work of the Soils Division of the Council for Scientific and Industrial Research, the department of agricultural chemistry has continued its studies on the red brown earths of South Australia, representing the most fertile wheat-growing soils of the State. Work on the nature and properties of the viruses of tomato-spotted wilt and tobacco mosaic has been continued. The nature of the seasonal fluctuations and character of the available nitrogen in the soil under pasture conditions is being investigated.

During the year an advance has been made towards the establishment of a department of agricultural bacteriology. Work on wine problems has been made possible by a grant to the University from the Wine Overseas Marketing Board and is now in progress. In soil bacteriology, attention is being directed to the nodule organisms of leguminous crops.

Investigations have been made into the causes which bring about periodic plagues of the migrating grasshopper. A systematic survey of the drier areas of the State is in progress, so that the endemic centres of the important species may be definitely determined.

Further studies have been made on the effect of climate on the seasonal occurrence and fluctuations in numbers of certain insects of economic importance in Australia. In particular, the significance of the monthly precipitation-evaporation ratio in this relation has been examined.

The biological studies of apple thrips have been completed.

Investigation of the factors determining the occurrence, spread and severity of the "take-all" disease of cereals is being continued. Studies on "gummosis" of apricot trees have been extended to field inoculations and examinations. Various seed dressings for control of "covered smut" of barley have been investigated. An experiment on the use of chemicals for soil fumigation to prevent damage to tomato roots by eelworms is in progress.

VII. Geological Department.

In addition to the routine teaching work of the Department an invaluable amount of investigational work has been conducted by members of the staff and by post-graduate workers associated therewith. Extensive collections of Antarctic rocks and minerals have been examined and reported upon by Professor Mawson, Mr. A. W. Kleeman, and Mr. J. O. G. Glastonbury.

Professor Mawson, as President of the Australian and New Zealand Association for the Advancement of Science, has published an authoritative history of Antarctic exploration; there he discusses the broader present and future prospects for Antarctica in the matter of occupation and development.

Dr. Madigan was granted a short period of leave to visit new areas in Central Australia in order to extend his geological explorations from the McDonnell Ranges east and north-east to the Queensland border. The results of his observations will be published shortly.

Dr. A. R. Alderman, who recently returned from England, has published during the year two contributions dealing with petrological problems, the first relating to an area in Scotland, the second to a locality in Cornwall. During the year also he has prepared reports upon several South Australian meteorites in possession of the S.A. Museum.

Mr. A. W. Kleeman has completed a report upon the Artracoona Meteorite, which is a fine example of an aerolite, found in Northern South Australia and acquired by the University.

VIII. Department of Human Physiology and Pharmacology.

The isolation of a new alkaloid D-Nor-nicotine by Hicks and LeMessurier has been followed up by a study of its chemical constitution and physiological action. The alkaloid is the essential narcotic substance of the "pituri" of the Australian aboriginal.

Work on the therapeutic effect of whole adrenal gland has been conducted in collaboration with the Department of Biochemistry, with the result that the curative effect previously obtained with two cases of Addison's disease has been confirmed, and a profound action on gaseous and intermediate metabolism disclosed. Papers on these subjects have been read by invitation before the Royal Society of Medicine, and the British Pharmacological Congress.

The results of two years' investigation into heat production and heat loss in the naked aboriginal indicate the existence of a degree of control of circulation through the skin such as is not possessed by civilized man. The conclusions appear to be important from the point of view of the etiology of pulmonary congestion and pneumonia. By special invitation addresses on this subject have been given to the Medical Society of Basel, the Biological Society of Vienna, and the Associated Clinics and Medical Society of Vienna.

IX. The Animal Products Research Foundation.

The work of Miss Dawbarn continues to be divided between the conduct of special investigations for the C.S.I.R., and the research on the nucleo-cytoplasmic ratio initiated by the late Professor Brailsford Robertson. In the former case she has carried out some important investigations into the mineral content of bone, and in the latter, investigations continue in the difficult task of establishing satisfactory analytical technique.

X. The Department of Pathology.

The Department of Pathology in conjunction with the Pathological Department of the Adelaide Hospital has now completed a tabulation of the pathological lesions in 3,000 autopsies. The work of grouping these and comparing the results and making an analysis of the data is now in progress and, it is hoped, will eventually lead to valuable information on the causes of death and associated lesions

XI. Anti-Cancer Campaign.

There was no change in officers or technical staff during the year, and the work has continued along the lines previously reported. The evening meetings of the Clinical Committee have continued regularly. It was felt that the information exchanged at these meetings was of sufficient importance to interest general practitioners, and during the year it was decided to circularise summaries of each meeting to all practising members of the medical profession in South Australia. The editor of the Medical Journal of Australia agreed to publish in his Journal every such report, while the anti-cancer organization in Western Australia asked permission to send the reports to all members of the profession in that State. The organization thus discharged part of its obligations in the education of the medical profession.

The number of new patients admitted to the Clinic at the Adelaide Hospital during the year was 688, an increase of 23 per cent. on the figures for the preceding twelve months. The number of attendances registered was 8,613. This sudden increase may have been due in part to the decision to make a trial of pre-operative X-irradiation in cancer of the breast.

Radon production was made more efficient, and a weekly quantity of emanation equivalent to over 50 per cent. of the radium in solution is now available for use in the clinic.

Work with the deep therapy plant increased to an extent which necessitated the installation of a water-cooled deep X-ray tube to work at 8 milliamperes instead of the 4 milliamperes capacity of the air-cooled tubes. The new tube has worked satisfactorily for the short time it has been in use. Other renewals of apparatus have become necessary through natural wear and tear.

The University was represented at the Sixth Australian Cancer Conference in Canberra by the Honorary Director of the Clinic, Mr. F. S. Hone, and Professor Kerr Grant.

XII. The Board for Anthropological Research.

The Board, in conjunction with the South Australian Museum, sent its eleventh expedition to the Warburton Ranges, in Western Australia, under the leadership of Mr. N. B. Tindale. Fifty-three natives were studied, and in addition to anthropometric data, much information was obtained concerning the customs and organization of the Ngadadjara people. A 16 mm. cinema film was secured, which includes full details of the circumcision and sub-incision rites, and of kangaroo hunting and grain gathering techniques.

Linguistic Work.—Mr. T. G. H. Strehlow was in Aranda territory in Central Australia from February to December: most of the time was spent in the Arltunga and Lower Hale River districts. He collected 16 legends and chant-verses and saw 34 ceremonies, and has prepared full explanatory notes to all these. He also made a careful study of the dialects. The text of the legends and chant-verses would amount to some 350 large octavo pages; most of them are in the Alitera (Lower Hale River) dialect, which was hitherto practically unknown. The Rev. J. R. B. Love is continuing his work among the Worora and neighbouring tribes in the north-west of Western Australia, and has supplemented his Worora Grammar by an English Worora Dictionary of about 2,000 words, with notes on accidence and usage. Mr. N. B. Tindale recently published, in the Records of the S.A. Museum, a legend in the Jaralde Language (once spoken near Lake Alexandrina), taken down phonetically from a full-blooded member of the tribe, with a word for word translation; he has recorded another myth with word for word translation in the same language, and numerous terms of relationship. He has secured a vocabulary of the Narranga Tribe (Yorke Peninsula), and, during the expedition in August, a vocabulary of 550 words of the Ngadadjara Tribe (Warburton Range, W.A.).

XIII. Koonamore Vegetation Reserve.

Professor Wood has made only one visit to the Reserve during the year, for the continuation of drought conditions has caused little change in the vegetation. New work developed during the year has been the recognition of different ecotypes or "races" of the bladder saltbush, confined to differing habitats and with varying powers of resistance to drought and to grazing. During the year a comprehensive paper was published dealing with the results obtained on the Reserve during the first six years of enclosure.

XIV. Other Contributions to Knowledge.

Other work done by members of the University is referred to in the Commemoration Address appended to this report. A list of publications during the year will be found in the bibliography, which is also attached. The assistance made to Government Departments and other public bodies includes the following:—

Professor Macbeth made tests for the Advisory Committee under the Food and Drugs Act. Professor Cleland carried out pathological examinations for the Chief Secretary's Department; and at the request of the Commonwealth Government he acted as Chairman of the Commission which inquired into the alleged ill-treatment of natives in Central Australia. A large number of commercial tests were made in the Engineering and Physics Departments. The Engineering School co-operated with the Engineering and Water Supply Department in a series of tests of models to determine the best form for the outlet of the channel carrying metropolitan flood-waters. Professor Harvey Johnston continued the microscopic examination of the water supplied through the metropolitan water system. At the request of the Prime Minister's Department accommodation in the Geological School during the summer has been placed at the disposal of the members of the Commonwealth Aerial, Geological, and Geophysical Survey of Northern Australia; Professor Sir Douglas Mawson and his staff will assist and co-operate as far as possible in the work of the Survey.

XV. Public Lectures.

The following public lectures were given during the second term:—Three lectures on Transmutation of the Elements by Professor Kerr Grant; one on Dante's Divine Comedy by Professor Wilton; two on The Spirit of Greece and Its Daily Life, and The Spirit of Rome and Its Daily Life, by Professor FitzHerbert; and two on Soil Deficiencies and Crop Production, and on Soil Deficiencies and Animal Health, by Professor Prescott.

In conjunction with the Royal Geographical Society arrangements were made for a crowded audience to hear a lecture by Dr. Bertram Thomas on his crossing of the South Arabian Desert.

XVI. Representation at Conferences, etc.

The University was represented at the celebrations of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the University of Queensland by Professors L. S. Bagster and A. C. V. Melbourne; at the celebrations of the centenary of the Geological Survey of Great Britain by Professor C. E. Tilley; at the Sixth International Botanical Congress by Mr. G. Samuel; at the Eighteenth Annual Conference of the Workers' Educational Association by Professors J. A. FitzHerbert, G. V. Portus, and E. O. G. Shann; and at the Australian Music Examinations Board Conference by Professor E. Harold Davies and Mr. H. R. Othams.

An address by Professor FitzHerbert was sent to the Royal Hungarian (Cardinal Peter Pazmany) University at Budapest on the occasion of its tercentenary celebrations; and the University was invited to be represented at the second congress of the William Budé Association and at the tercentary celebrations of the National Museum of Natural History in Paris.

XVII. Representation in Various Institutions, etc.

The following representatives of the University were appointed:—On the Board of the Public Library, Museum and Art Gallery of South Australia—Professor T. Harvey Johnston and Mr. R. N. Finlayson; on the Committee of the University Union—Professor G. V. Portus and Dr. Helen Mayo; on the Committee of the University Sports Association—Mr. F. S. Hone and Mr. W. R. Bayly; on the Board of Architectural Education—Mr. L. Laybourne Smith; on the Board of Social Service Training—Dr. Helen Mayo and Mr. W. R. XVIII. Numbers of Students.

The number of undergraduates was 939, of non-graduating students 956, and of post-graduate students 177. Of the non-graduating students 77 attended from the School of Mines. At the Elder Conservatorium 239 students studied principal subjects, and 23 attended classes only.

The number of candidates studying for the B.A. degree was 422, for the M.A. degree 9, for the D.Litt. degree 1, for the B.Ec. degree 33, for the B.Sc. degree 109, for the M.Sc. degree 7, for the D.Sc. degree 3, for the B.Ag.Sc. degree 6, for the B.E. degree 115, for the M.E. degree 4, for the LL.B. degree 111, for the LL.M. degree 1, for the M.B., B.S. degrees 144, for the M.D. degree 3, for the M.S. degree 1, for the B.D.S. degree 18, for the D.D.Sc. degree 1, for the Mus.Bac. degree 21, for the Mus.Doc. degree 1, and for the diploma in Education 43. 412 students attended the course for the diploma in Commerce, 61 for the diploma in Public Administration, 85 for the diploma in Pharmacy, and 22 for the diploma in Music. Seven students attended the special course of instruction arranged to meet the requirements of the Massage Association; 14 attended a special post-graduate course in Anatomy, and 12 attended a special course for students in Optometry.

Night lectures were given in the following subjects:—Chemistry, Economics, Economic History, Education, English Language and Literature, French, Geography, Geology, Political Science and History, Latin, Logic, Mathematics, Physics, Psychology, Accountancy, Commercial Law, Commercial Practice, English Composition, Public Administration, Public Finance, and Statistics.

XIX. Department of Tutorial Classes.

There were five tutorial classes, fifteen lecture classes, one preparatory class, and eight study circles held at the University, and two lecture classes at Port Adelaide. Lecture classes were also held at Colonel Light Gardens, Hindmarsh, Glenelg, and Largs Bay. Courses of lectures were given at Barmera, Gawler, Mannum, Murray Bridge, Norton's Summit, and Tailem Bend. The total enrolment for the city classes was 1,195. Of this number 781 students attended at least half the meetings.

XX. Public Examinations.

The following numbers of candidates presented themselves at the Public Examinations:—

164 at the Supplementary Leaving Examination in February;
2,814 at the Intermediate and Intermediate Commercial Examinations in November;
1,932 at the Leaving and Leaving Commercial Examinations in November;
219 at the Leaving Honours Examination.

The Commissioner of Public Works again granted the use of the Exhibition Building for the examinations in November. The examinations were held in country towns and districts at 46 permanent and 42 temporary centres.

The Public Examinations in Music of the Australian Music Examinations Board were held in May and September. In South Australia there were 424 entries in Theory and 978 in Practice of Music.

XXI. Statutes and Regulations.

Regulations of the degrees of Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Laws, and Bachelor of Medicine and Surgery and of the Public Examinations were amended. Adelaide, 31st January, 1936.

JUBILEE CELEBRATIONS OF THE MEDICAL SCHOOL.

A Special Congregation of the University was held in the Elder Hall on Wednesday, the 18th September, 1935, for the purpose of conferring the ad eundem degree of Doctor of Medicine on—

Lord Horder, K.C.V.O., and Sir Thomas Dunhill, K.C.V.O.

In the absence of the Chancellor in England the Vice-Chancellor presided. Sir William Mitchell said:—

The public portion of the Jubilee Celebrations took place a fortnight ago, when the University was in vacation. It took the form of an exposition of the history of medical and surgical practice during the past 50 years.

The crowded attendance during all four sessions well repaid the very great trouble that was taken by professors, lecturers, and students, but I would like now to thank them on behalf of the University Council.

The present portion of the celebrations was deferred till now because Lord Horder and Sir Thomas Dunhill very kindly consented to break their journey and do honour to the school by adding their names to our senate-roll; and because we were anxious that Lord Horder should address us, and start the school on its next 50 years. Turning back on our track, we come in 15 years to the break in our history which put the University on a new foundation. For here we took something of the same resolve that was taken in Great Britain. There the Universities old and new had been depending on the income from their endowments and from fees. But its first Parliament after the war made a fundamental change. It created the University Grants Commission, to which it gave a million a year for distribution among the universities and medical schools. Five years later the sum was increased to a million and half a year, and, when the depression fell, this was the one grant that it would not reduce.

What was the purpose of so lavish a change? It was not what you might expect. It was not in order to increase the number of university students, and it was not in order to support them. None of the money was spent on bursaries, or scholarships, or a reduction of fees. The purpose was not to relieve the student, but to spend twice as much upon him, and his studies, as had been done. The result came very soon, and brought out the value of high and higher standards. This induced more towns to try to have universities of their own. But one condition was imposed before any town was allowed to call its institution a university, or allowed to grant degrees of any sort. Again the condition was not what you might expect. It was not at all the number of students; their numbers did not matter; it was their income. And it was not the income per head but the absolute amount that mattered. It must not be less than £100,000 a year. That is the minimum.

That is the ground that is and was taken by the Grants Commission. It was and is implicitly approved by the British Parliament, and it is the one Parliamentary grant which has no minister but the Chancellor of the Exchequer. And that ground is the proper one, but it was too hard for us at the time. There was however, a simpler one that could be used in the meantime, and every one could see the strength of it.

It had become obvious that South Australia must be essentially agricultural and pastoral—no bad thing—and that already all the professions were being filled out of this University. That seemed a good thing. It appealed easily to fathers of families and therefore to Parliament. But the University had to look farther. It saw the harm that we should be doing if we filled the professions with incompetent men. They could very well be incompetent—in medicine and surgery, in law, in the practice of science, and in higher education—and get away with it; they could get away with it even in engineering. For patients, clients, pupils, and even the patient public, could not tell nor be sure. That is the ground which the University put before the Government and Parliament. It said that it could not guarantee a proper standard unless an additional £20,000 a year were spent on the students so that they could be given as high a quality of instruction, with as good an equipment, as in a large university. First the Government and then Parliament assented unanimously. Far from checking the flow of private endowments the result has been to increase it, as can be seen in the medical school. During these 15 years the bequests which it has received come to twice the amount of those from the previous 35 years.

That is very well for a beginning. But it is not enough that the schools within a university should keep abreast with the advance of science and practice; they have not to spread knowledge merely; they have to make it. The materials for such advance in medicine as in other studies are at hand here in Adelaide. And that is why we celebrate this jubliee, looking forward rather than behind; and that is why we are looking to Lord Horder.

But a jubilee is also a resting-place from which we can look back with gratitude and here even to the start. An onlooker might well condemn our optimistic ancestors; the press did condemn them. What right had Adelaide 50 years ago to set up a medical school? Was it yielding to the temptation of an isolated community to set up a cheap and easy medical service, a temptation to which America succumbed so badly? There 30 years ago there were as many medical students graduating every year as in all the rest of the world put together. Australia never yielded to that temptation. But still the onlooker may point a finger at our start. He may begin with the founder and sole creator of the school, who was at once clinical lecturer in surgery, lecturer in physiology, in histology, and in zoology. But he was Edward Stirling, had been assistant surgeon at St. George's Hospital, and, when soon he confined himself to zoology he became perhaps the first of the very small group of Australians who have been elected Fellows of the Royal Society. Or take the other men who began the school with him here 50 years ago, and through whose hands there passed so many generations of students: Rennie, who taught them for 42 years, became the leader of organic chemistry in Australia; Watson, who taught them for 34 years, had learnt his anatomy from Henle and been his assistant; Bragg, who taught them for 22 years, and who the other day received the Order of Merit. Of the practical men, who came in a year or two later, only the youngest is here to-day, Dr. Anstey Giles. Dr. Lendon, who was also one of them, spent the last year of his life in compiling a history of the school from the start. The material which he collected with so much trouble has been revised by Dr. Hone and Dr. Ray; and the Council has had it printed for distribution to the survivors of the 500 men and women who have graduated from the school. It came out this morning.

But it does not need the book to tell them and us all the name of the man who became the second founder of the School. Verco received his education at St. Bartholomew's, whence he returned to Adelaide in 1878, after a record in both medicine and surgery which few can have equalled there or anywhere in London. He was never the man to take a holiday except for dredging the sea-bottom, but, when St. Bartholomew's celebrated its fifth centenary a few years ago, his affection for the old place took him back there. In the presence of Lord Horder and Sir Thomas Dunhill you will excuse me if I read what we thought of him from the book, for Lord Horder is head of the medical division of St. Bartholomew's, and Sir Thomas Dunhill has just retired from its teaching unit in surgery :

"Few people outside South Australia can realise the extraordinary influence he exerted on the Medical School and medical thought of the State. He grew up with the Medical School from its infancy; its existence fostered the development of his powers and reputation; in his turn he nourished the School by his work, his counsel, and financial assistance.

"In the early days of the School he thought of little beyond his work. His life was indeed an ordered life. His reputation for severity made his clerks and students work as they did for no one else, and was of untold good in establishing traditions for the young Medical School. But everyone paid tribute to his scrupulous fairness and justice. From the commencement of his teaching students delighted in repeating his bon mots, his humorous and semi-scathing remarks at their expense; and those who summoned up courage to approach him with difficulties or plans found him, as did all subsequent generations of students, a wise counsellor and friend.

"It was interesting in his later years to see how high dignitaries outside his profession deferred to his opinion. So respected was his judgment that, if he were in favour of a plan, it was carried; and, best testimony of all, no one cavilled at this procedure. In any plan he put forward there was never a suggestion of self-seeking; personal feelings were absent; all he thought of was the good of the cause; and we only realised the value of his leadership after he went into complete retirement.

"The thoroughness with which he did everything never left him. His independent and judicial mind, his enviable equanimity and his humanity, were as valuable to the School as his clinical teaching. His last service to the University was the endowment of the Australian Journal of Medical Sciences.

"No account of his work would be complete without reference to his deep religious convictions. His religious views coloured his life and controlled his actions. How much of his calm and serenity was due to this none of us can tell. It induced a certain simplicity and austerity of life which mellowed with ripening years, yet which, coupled with his professional pre-eminence, set him, in a sense, apart."

From first to last the two schools lay together in his heart, and therefore it is with singular sincerity that we welcome the honour paid to our school to-day by Lord Horder and Sir Thomas Dunhill who have come to add their names to our Senate-roll. Every teacher in clinical medicine is concerned with the earlier years of his students because he has to presume that they come to him well-grounded in the sciences that bear on the practice of medicine. But Lord Horder speaks with supreme authority, because in his earlier days he taught those very sciences.

The Dean of the Faculty of Medicine (Dr. C. T. Ch.-de Crespigny) presented the candidates to the Vice-Chancellor, and after the degrees had been conferred Lord Horder addressed the congregation:—

Mr. Vice-Chancellor, Your Excellency, Ladies and Gentlemen,

On behalf of my friend and colleague, Sir Thomas Dunhill, and myself, I desire to thank you, Mr. Vice-Chancellor, and the Council of the University of Adelaide, for the signal honour which you have this day conferred upon us.

That attractive diffidence which is so characteristic of Sir Thomas Dunhill would lead him to demur if for a moment I segregate him from myself and say, quite boldly, that in his case I realise how fitting this honour is. A son of Australia, he has for the past 15 years not only given the homeland the fruits of his genius, but he has shown us all of what stuff his motherland is capable. In the unlikely event of anyone in Australia being in a state of doubt on the point, I would like to say here that my colleague has taken his place in the very first rank of British surgeons and has, as we all know, received the recognition due to him from the highest in the land.

In my own case the position is very different. I am a stranger amongst you. You in Australia have already showered your well-known hospitality upon me, as upon the rest of us who have visited you during the past two weeks, with embarrassing profusion. Such a cordial welcome as you have given us, and such kindness as you have shown, have more than rewarded us for our adventure and for any contributions we have made to the deliberations of the B.M.A. meeting in the Commonwealth. And now you put me still further in your debt by making me an honorary member of your University and inviting me to speak to you. I can only say "Thank you" very sincerely and assure you that I shall always value this honour as long as life lasts.

In your generously extravagant references to myself, Mr. Vice-Chancellor, you have mentioned my interest in medical education. "I speak as a fool," but I dare not tell you for how many years I have participated in the making of doctors—first by teaching physiology in what we term the pre-clinical part of the curriculum, then in demonstrating bacteriology, pathology, and morbid anatomy, and for the past 25 years teaching clinical medicine. When I remember that at St. Bartholomew's Hospital Medical College over a hundred men qualify for practice every year ,and that nearly 1,000 students are scattered over the six years of their training at any moment, the recollection rather appals me. That I have had a hand in teaching about 3,000 doctors at some time or other in their course of training brings a feeling of great responsibility and some humility. I may perhaps be forgiven for referring to this matter, since I am anxious that you should know that I do not speak without some experience.

The logic of the matter would naturally suggest that I refer, in the first place, to the curriculum itself. And on that I hold strong and definite views. But I do not think this is the place in which to air them. I am more concerned to-day with your own conditions and the things I have seen here. Moreover, this matter of the curriculum is more or less standardised all over the British Empire. This is necessitated by the desirability of accepting diplomas as being of equivalent value in whatever part of the Empire obtained—a great advantage. All the same, you can make your views and your influence felt. That the curriculum is badly in need of revision I have personally no doubt whatever, and it is good to know that this revision is being undertaken. A number of subjects demand attention—genetics or the science of heredity, psychology, and dietetics, to name three important ones that occur to me. But the curriculum is already over full, say some. Agreed, then we ought to take out parts of those subjects that are, relatively to these and others I might mention, unimportant. If the pre-clinical studies in particular are more closely adapted to the special requirements of the budding doctor, invaluable time may be saved. That the clinician should spend many hours teaching the students in the wards and in the out-patient room, facts which really belong to physiology and anatomy and chemistry, is heart-breaking. And it is equally heartbreaking to find, towards the end of his curriculum, that there is no time to teach him the subjects to which I have referred. I regard this matter as so vital that I think nothing has given me greater satisfaction, Mr. Vice-Chancellor, than to hear from you that in Adelaide University the scientific subjects are taught to those students who are intending to become doctors, with due recognition of this fact, so that a maximum concentration is made upon the ultimate purpose of their career from the very first.

You are fortunate in Adelaide, as elsewhere in the Commonwealth, in that the only avenue of entry into the medical profession is through the University. You are aware, Mr. Vice-Chancellor, of the difficulties and complications in this matter at home, where a large percentage of our doctors take an extra-university diploma. Now this latter procedure has at least one saving benefit; it keeps the student in very close touch with his hospital. And that is essential. The teaching of medicine differs fundamentally from the teaching of any other profession in this: that its success is entirely dependent upon close contact between the student and clinical material, that is, the patient. It was a dictum of the great French Clinician, Trousseau, "les malades, toujours les malades," a dictum which might well be written up in large letters over the entrance to a medical school. That is another reason why the pre-clinical studies should not be too long drawn out. They are necessary, vitally necessary; but the sooner the embryo doctor comes in contact with the patient, and keeps this contact, the better for both of them. Of course the young doctor should have made contact with his fellows long before this, and should have trained himself to observe. The power of observation and an intense interest in human beings are much better indications that a boy will make a good doctor than finding him dissecting a fly or ill-treating a frog, which are the more traditional signs that he was destined for the career of medicine. As I say, this close fusion of the academic with the clinical aspects of his work is paramount for the medical student. Your facilities for this in Adelaide seem to me to be quite exceptional. Quite apart from your aesthetic advantages, and the amenities of quiet, air, and light, the geographical features are ideal. The proximity of the university to the hospital is such that the liaison can be of the closest. A stone's throw separates the classroom and the lecture theatre from the wards, the out-patient rooms, and the special departments. In passing, I should like to congratulate the hospital authorities upon the magnificent lay-out of the buildings and their perfect adaptability to hospital needs. The wards combine the best hygienic conditions with that touch of homeliness which is so important a factor in the patient's recovery.

If I miss anything in all this paradise of hospital service and university culture—and it is a product of that experience of which I spoke when I began that it gives one the power of detecting the weakness as well as the strength of any system of medical education—if I miss anything, it is in the field of research. But as soon as I inquire about this I am made aware of efforts already under way towards repairing this breach in what is otherwise such an attractive and efficient edifice. I understand there is a scheme afoot by which all this valuable clinical and pathological material shall be utilised, not only for the direct teaching of medicine, but for the furthering of medical science and medical treatment.

Quite apart from the enormous value of such a scheme in this direction, its value in raising the prestige of the university and of the hospital still higher, and its moral effect upon the student at every step in his career, will be incalculable. Such an "Institute of Medical Science" would knit together the present hospital service, the clinico-pathological investigations, and the post-mortem findings as nothing else could do. I spoke of the moral effect upon the student. May I, with all deference, speak of the moral effect of such an institute upon the teachers? That, too, would be incalculable. I do not know what departments are so far envisaged in the new block which, I assume, such a conception would make necessary. But I imagine they would include one in which the clinico-pathological investigations are analysed and correlated; another in which the invaluable post-mortem materials are studied in greater detail than can be done in the post-mortem room itself; still another which is devoted to public health affairs; and a series of small laboratories for researches undertaken by the staff, and by senior students. The present museum would probably be transferred to one floor of the building. I have no doubt that all sections at present controlling and administering the hospital and the medical school will work enthusiastically towards this project, so essential to the professors, the students, the doctors, and the public. How truly have you said, Sir, "the function of a medical school is not only to spread knowledge, but to make it."

I am speaking to-day on a memorable occasion in the history of the Medical School of the University of Adelaide. This year the school celebrates its jubilee. Fifty years may seem a short time, but we must not forget that medical teaching, of any systematised sort, has only existed anywhere in the world for about twice that period. And whatever we may think about the art of medicine, the past 50 years comprise practically the whole of the science of present-day medicine. You think you are young, but much of what was taught to the medical student 50 years ago is already outworn, if not positively dangerous. If anyone in Adelaide, concerning himself with the teaching or with the learning of medicine, thinks he lacks advantages which we at home enjoy, let him get rid of that particular thought as soon as possible. For what are the essentials in the equipment of the good doctor? There are the traditions of our profession to begin with. The imperishable nature of these, and their enormous influence upon the medical man —and therefore their great value to his patients—cannot be exaggerated. But these traditions are shared equally by young medical schools and old. They date back at least 2,000 years. Next comes the calibre of the young doctor himself. I have had many Australians amongst my students, and I am quite sure that in brains, and in personality, they take a place second to none. Do I see the best of them perhaps? If I do, then so much the better for me. I think it is a pity that more of them do not come back to the land of their birth and of their early training—a land to be proud of and to work for. Not that we do not like them to remain with us: personally, to use a vulgarism, I "fall for them" every time, as I do for Irishmen and for sailors. But ought we to keep these men and these women? My conscience is a little disturbed about them, because I am not clear that we deserve the best that you produce. Moreover, if a country creams off even a portion of its best men and women, and loses them, and loses their offspring, though this may be a great gain to others, it must inevitably be a loss to the land that bred them.

Next comes the personnel of the teachers. I can concede nothing on this point. Great names have emerged from Adelaide. You, Sir, have already mentioned some of these: Bragg, Rennie, Stirling, Robertson, Watson, and Verco, concerning whom you, Sir, have spoken so eloquently (and who I had formerly thought had no vice until you told us that he never took a holiday. It is good and encouraging to know that Joseph Verco was no better than the rest of us)—to say nothing of those stalwarts who are still with you, and concerning whom it were invidious to speak. Then again, Adelaide has made large contributions to the teaching staffs of other schools in the Commonwealth. Lastly, the materials for teaching. I have already dealt with these. There is more than a quarter of a million people to feed the hospital and 500 beds to cope with this population, so that the fear at present is a wastage of clinical material rather than a paucity of it. It is my bent to look for what, to use another vulgarism, are termed "snags." I can see none, unless it be this Institute of Medical Science within your walls, the contemplation of which has now led to the beginning of practical measures, and whose establishment would be a fine tribute to the work which the school has done in the past 50 years.

On behalf of my colleague and myself, I offer the Medical School of Adelaide our warm congratulations upon the attainment of its jubilee. With traditions that it shares with all of us, with ideals which are no less high than those that imbue Australians in general, with unexcelled advantages, both academic and practical, it can surely not fail to achieve that success in the future which we so ardently desire for it.

At the conclusion of Lord Horder's address the Vice-Chancellor said: It is not our habit to propose votes of thanks, but I cannot but break the rule in order to tell Lord Horder how greatly we appreciate his kindness in giving us an address so instructive and full of wise counsel. And I want to say to him that we shall take it with us as we turn now from celebrating this jubilee of our youth to face the heavier years that lie before us.

Subject-matter of the course:

The student, having completed the course in Biochemistry, is given a brief introduction to the energetic basis of the body before studying the mechanisms of movement and sensation. The mechanical, thermal, chemical, and electrical changes in muscular activity and nerve activity are considered. The physiology of sensation, with special reference to the clinical aspect, is surveyed, and the sense of vision is dealt with in detail.

The lecture headings for the course are as follows:—Voluntarily striated muscle. Plain muscle nerve fibres. General features of a central nervous system. Functions and connections of a nerve cell and characteristics of reflex actions. Effects of section of cord and roots. Spinal mechanism of co-ordinated movements. Trophic functions of cord. Brain stem. Functions of cerebrum and cerebellum. Physiology of sensations—auditory, visual, skin, and postural. Voluntary movement and group control. Conditioned reflexes. Sleep. Speech. Stato-kinetic reflexes.

2. Exchanges of Matter and Energy, and Physiology of Digestion, the Blood, Circulation, Respiration, and Immunity.

This course consists of three lectures and two periods of laboratory work per week in the first term of the third year.

Subject-matter of the course:

Exchanges of matter and energy within the body. Methods of studying the total exchanges. Factors influencing metabolism. The mechanics of digestion. Clinical examination of the digestive function.

The constitution of blood. The corpuscles and platelets, and coagulation treated with emphasis on their clinical significance. The physiology of the heart and especially the origin and propagation of the beat, and the control, mechanical and reflex, of the cardiac output. Blood-pressure and velocity of flow. The volume and pressure pulse, plethysmography, the vaso-motor mechanism, and capillary circulation, with especial reference to the phenomenon of shock. The effect of exercise upon the circulation, and its relation to cardiac efficiency. Cerebral, pulmonary, and visceral circulations compared and contrasted. Lymph formation, circulation and inflammation, and the mechanisms of defence. The mechanics and chemistry of respiration in the lungs and in the tissues. The regulation of respiration, and the effects of altitude and exercise, and the clinical significance of the same.

A course in practical mammalian physiology is an essential part of the tuition, and students are required to provide themselves with operating gown and surgical instruments as approved by the Department.

3. The Physiology of Urinary Excretion and Micturition and Temperature Regulation and the Pharmacology of the Same.

This course consists of three lectures and two periods of laboratory work per week during the second term of the third year.

Subject-matter of the course:

Renal excretion and the mechanism of micturition. The mechanism of heat regulation and fever. The pharmacology of these mechanisms is developed as an introduction to pharmacology generally, and the remainder of this term as well as the whole of the third term is devoted to the pharmacology of the central nervous system, the alimentary system, the heart and vascular system, and the hormones. The whole is treated as a revision and elaboration of the physiology previously dealt with, and aims at presenting physiology as a basis for pathology and medicine.

The practical work is adapted to emphasize the application of physiology to medical problems. Metabolism and energy exchanges, and work on blood, cardio-vascular and renal function in the human subject are especially studied.

The student writes critical reports on mammalian and human experimentation. These are handed in weekly, and, together with viva voce examinations of students throughout the practical course, form an important basis for assessing the student's progress.
