

and was also for several years Chancellor of the Diocese of Adelaide. He was a member of the Board of Examiners for solicitors, and Vice-President of the Bar Association. His professional life was devoted to the service of the people who possessed sound commonsense, quick intellect, and clear judgment.

Appointed to the Judiciary.
Mr. Pool's took silk in September, 1919, and was appointed to the Bench by the Judge of the Supreme Court. He received many congratulations upon his elevation to the Bench; for he had shown himself to be a man of a high order of the judicial mind and temperament, single-eyed impartiality, and unvarying patience and these qualities amply demonstrated in his judicial capacity.

Administrator of the Government.
In March, 1925, the Chief Justice (Sir George Murray) took a trip to England, and Mr. Pool was senior Justice. He was appointed Acting Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Pool, on the 27th of June, 1925, on the occasion of the death of Sir James P. Broucaud, who was Acting Chief Justice and senior Judge of the Supreme Court of South Australia. In thanking members of the profession for their kindly references upon his appointment as Acting Chief Justice, he said he had been surprised to find that they had been so anxious to lay aside their duty, it would be found that he had not been seriously deficient in those qualities which were so much in demand of a Justice in such a position. That his hopes have been fulfilled was evident from the fine record of Mr. Justice Pool's work.

His different health he applied himself to the growing Court duties with characteristic energy and devotion, and the number of cases he decided in the course of his presidency, and the many judgments which he delivered, clearly indicated that he had disregarded, with a determination to observe, a limitation of working hours. In order that he might dispose of the actions, and so facilitate the work of the Court, he met the demands of his new position as Administrator in the same spirit of self-sacrifice and deep sense of personal responsibility and a genuine desire for the people and the advancement of the State.

A Notable Freeman.
The example and inspiration of the progress and achievements of the son of Justice Pool was a direct line of Masonic succession for his honoured father is a Past Grand Master and Past Grand Master of the Supreme Court of South Australia. Mr. Pool was initiated in Lodge St. Alban, No. 38, in 1907. His work passed through various offices, and was installed as Worshipful Master of the same lodge on November 11, 1915. In July of the same year he was elected President of the Masters and Wardens Association of the State, and was elected Master of the lodge. It was declared that by no previous Master had the objects for which the Lodge of St. Alban was founded were so fully attained. It was also stated that the association did itself credit by electing him to the position of President.

His various studies were full of thought and rich with suggestion and were the obvious outcome of his constant and friendly contact with the aspirants and basic principles of Craft Masonry. In March, 1924, it was announced that Mr. Pool was to be nominated as Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of South Australia, in succession to M.W. Bro. A. J. P. Broucaud. The nomination was received with the warmest approval of the members. At the annual communication of the Grand Lodge on April 16, 1925, it was decided his term of office would be extended, and it was accordingly decided to accept the nomination. The Craft in that jurisdiction was bringing to a successful issue the scheme for the erection of the new Masonic Centre in Adelaide, and Mr. Pool was the efficient and up-to-date building, which is the headquarters of the Craft in this State, has fulfilled his first hopes. His name is mentioned in connection with the proposed building. Early in 1926 he performed the ceremony of laying the foundation stone of the temple, and next month he was at the ceremony and presided at the opening of the Work lodges in the new new edifice.

Other Activities. Mr. Justice Pool had been a member of the Senate of the University of Adelaide since 1924. He was elected a member of the council, and no longer a member of the faculty of the University of Adelaide. He was a member of the Board of Examiners for solicitors, and Vice-President of the Bar Association. His professional life was devoted to the service of the people who possessed sound commonsense, quick intellect, and clear judgment.

Mulheide, the Police Magistrate of this Court, I desire to express my sympathy to you and myself, I wish to state that we deeply regret the passing of Mr. Justice Pool, who was generally respected and highly esteemed, and who possessed an enormous capacity for work. His lucid judgments delivered in the Supreme Court, and his decisions in this and other Police Courts afforded valuable guidance to us, and moreover, we felt that the even which he engaged in correcting the errors into which we had fallen, he understood the difficulties which beset us, and sympathized with us in our efforts to attain justice according to law. If His Honor had not devoted himself so faithfully to the duties of his office, his physical health might have remained unimpaired for many years, and in this sense it may well be said that he gave his life for his country.”

Mr. J. W. Nelligan said that, on behalf of the Bar, he joined in the expressions of sympathy which were made on the passing of so eminent a Judge and so fine a citizen as Mr. Justice Pool. The fact that he had been so long and so hard worked in recent years, and it was a matter of common knowledge that the merces of litigation had made it difficult for him to perform his judicial duties without endangering his health. On behalf of the legal profession he expressed his sympathy to the family of Mr. Justice Pool. The Police Prosecutor (Mr. H. Allchurch) said that, on behalf of the Commissioner of the Police, he joined in the expressions of sympathy to the family of Mr. Justice Pool.

“A GREAT MAN.”

Mr. Justice Pool's exceptional ability, combined with his high sense of public duty and his devotion to his country, were the qualities which South Australia has produced. We all deplore that he should have been taken away in the prime of his life. On behalf of the Government, I offer my sincerest sympathy to Mrs. Pool and other members of the family in their bereavement.”

“CAREER OF DEVOTED SERVICE.”
The Attorney-General (Hon. H. H. Hore) said that he was truly glad at the moment of his appointment the late Judge applied himself closely to his work from which he never relaxed until he had reached his 70th birthday. It was not until he took a holiday, because he never took a holiday; he was always at his post. He was truly glad that his career was one of devoted service. He loved work, and it was this, probably more than anything else, which had made his career so successful. He was never too strong, and brought his life to a noble end. The State has lost a highly valued member of its judiciary, which is both as a Judge and as an Administrator. His place will be hard to fill, I have the sorrow which is tender to his relatives, my deepest sympathy.”

His work in every way of his life was to the benefit of his country. His work in every way of his life was to the benefit of his country.”

THE LORD MAYOR'S TRIBUTE.
From the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor (Mr. Wallace Bruce)—“The death of His Honor Mr. Justice Pool, who has been elected to the position of a great number of citizens, although quite a number of people were aware that he had been in a precarious state of health, was a great loss. He was a gentleman so highly respected and esteemed will come as a surprise to many of our citizens. It is a privilege to have known him, and to have had the opportunity to enjoy a somewhat intimate acquaintance with the late Judge; more particularly when he was a member of the Council of the City of Adelaide, and his many opinions on many matters were of great value to the City. He had a quiet, unassuming, and lovable disposition, which endeared him to all who were privileged to enjoy his friendship, and his presence possessed a charming personality, as was a man who loved his home, and who was a man who loved his home, and who was a man who loved his home.”

Milburn), when asked whether he would care to comment on the circumstances, said:—“Mr. Justice Pool was a man of a distinguished and noble character, and a fine classical scholar. He was one of the most learned Judges of the State, and his position will be hard to fill.”

The Leader of the Opposition (Mr. L. L. Hill) said as ex-Premier, he wished to express sincere regret at the passing of a distinguished member of the State. The late Judge was a prominent figure in many circles, and the loss of his services would be keenly felt by the judiciary of the State. He extended sympathy to the relatives.
